DENISON UNIVERSITY •

In affectionate appreciation of his accurate and thorough scholarship, his diligence, fairness, and skill as a teacher, his genuine Christian manliness, his firm friendship to the men and women of many classes, and his unswerving loyalty to our Alma Mater, the Junior Class dedicates this volume to Bunyan Spencer.

BUNYAN SPENCER

FOREWORD

We have endeavored to fix upon the pages of this Adytum the spirit of our College during an important year in its history. In so far as it is possible to picture, with pen and ink, life on a college campus, we have striven to do justice to Denison. If we have prepared something, that in the years ahead, will call to your mind pleasant experiences, old scenes and friends, almost forgotten amid the cares of later life, and thus will fix a little stronger the tie that binds our hearts to our Alma Mater, we shall be satisfied.

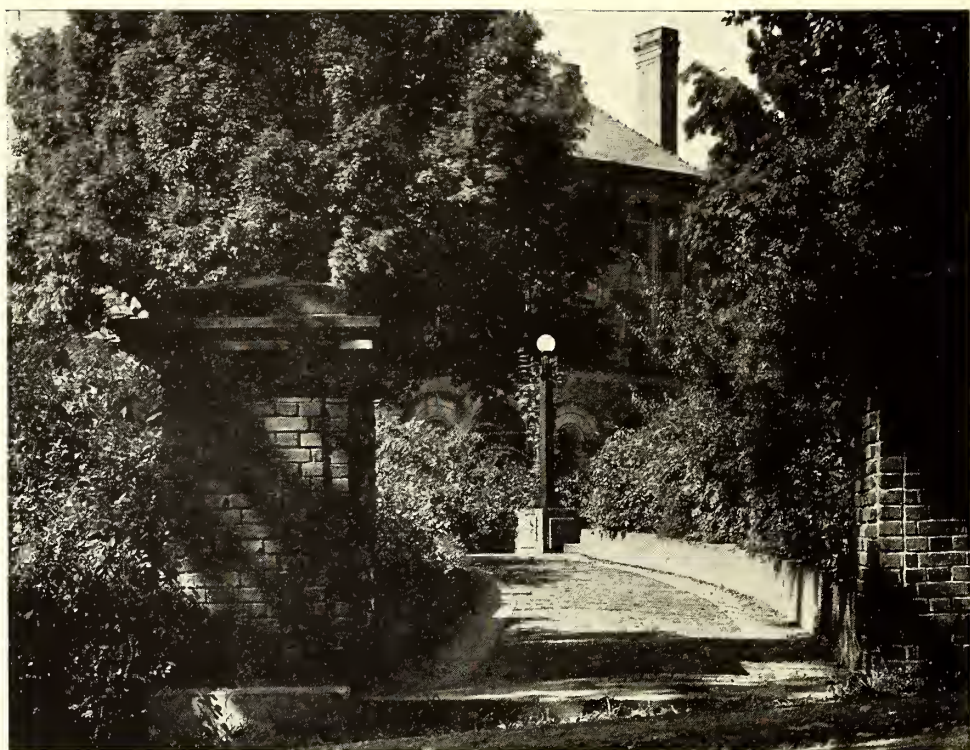

University

Book I

*The trees that o'ershadow each well known street
As they balance up and down,
Are singing the beautiful song,
Are sighing and whispering still:
"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."*

*There is an hour in each man's life appointed
To make his happiness, if then he seize it.*

*There, Traveller, stands my College, fair and high,
And smiles upon a little kneeling town.—Nellie Ballou.*

*Enter! the pavement, carpeted with leaves,
Gives back a softened echo to thy tread.
Listen! the choir is singing; all the birds,
In leafy galleries beneath the eaves,
Are singing.*

*Come hither, come hither, come hither;
Here shall he see
No enemy
But winter and rough weather.*

*The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight.*

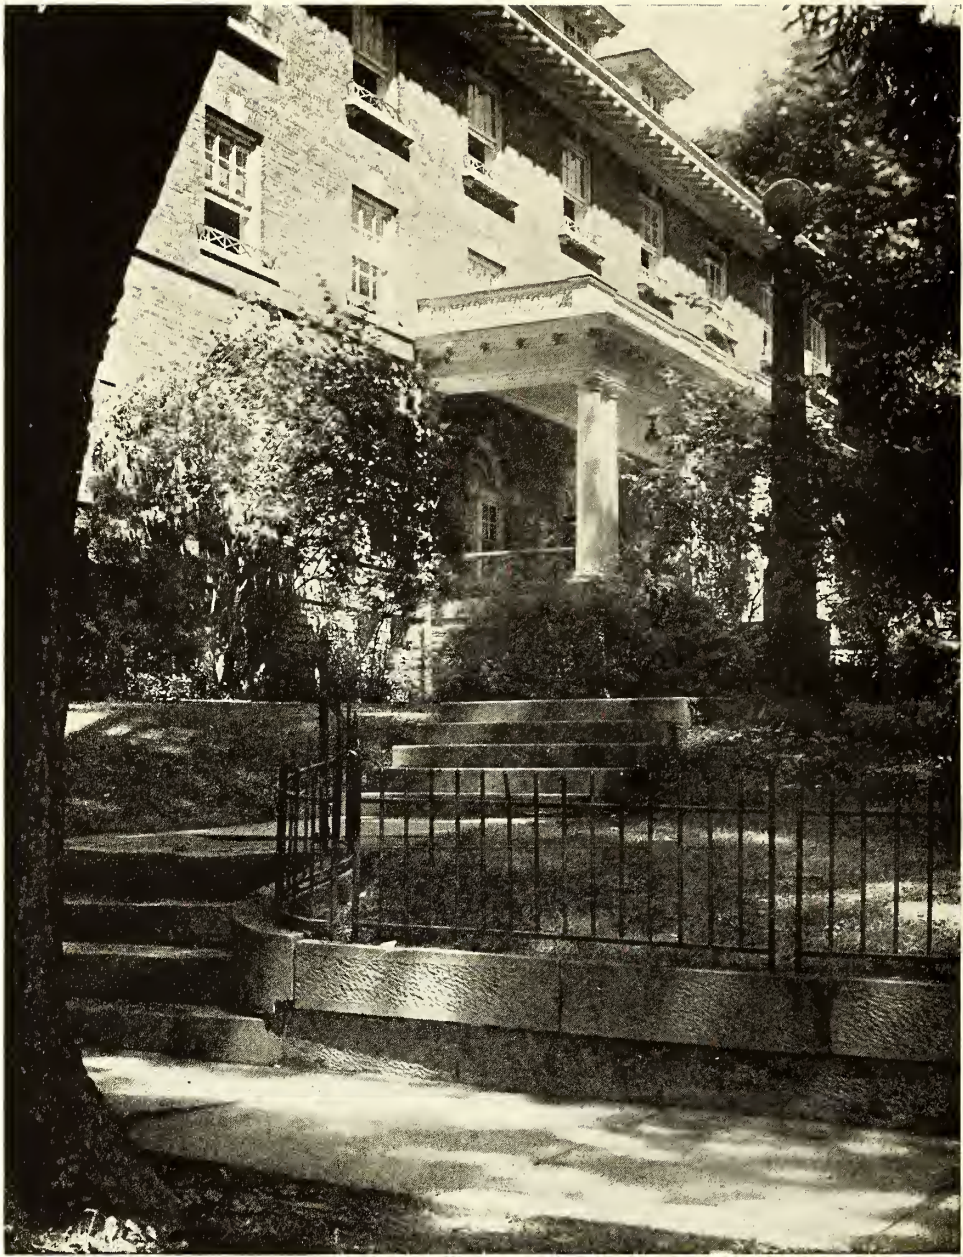

*There simmer first unfauld her robes,
And there the longest tarry!*

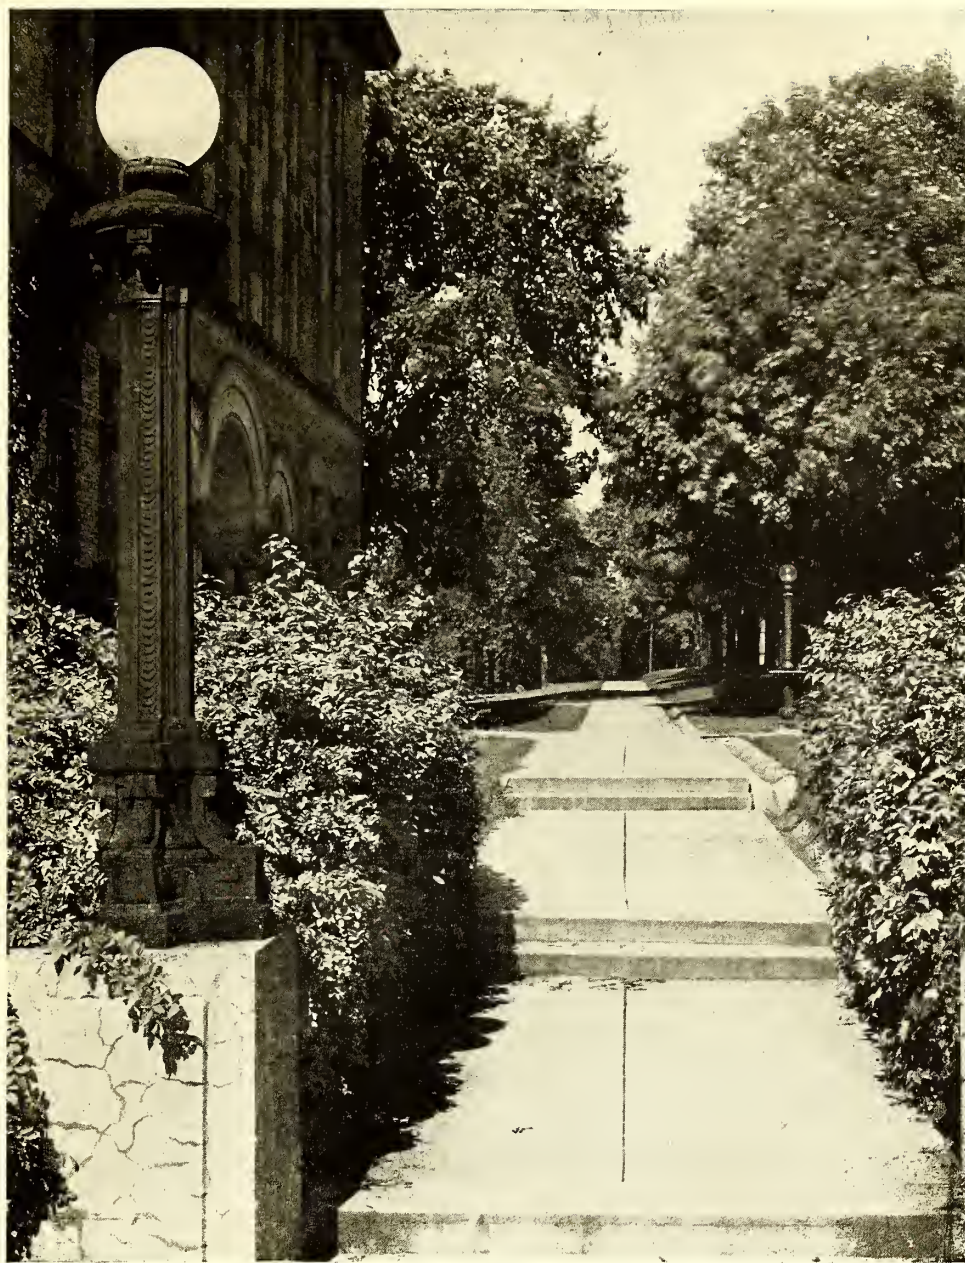

*Great elms o'erhead
Dark shadows move on their aerial looms,
Shot through with golden thread.*

*A day for Gods to stoop
And men to soar.*

A house of dreams untold.

*Bliss was it in that dawn to be alive,
But to be young was very heaven!*

*When I consider the heavens, the work of Thy fingers,
The moon and the stars that Thou hast ordained,
What is man that Thou art mindful of him?*

*And I said, "If there's peace to be found in the world,
A heart that was humble might hope for it here."*

What's past is prologue.

*Oh fair today
That may not stay,
Leave some bright vision of tomorrow!*

*The year's at the spring,
The day's at the morn;
Morning's at seven;
The hillside's dew-pearled.*

The year 1921 has been an important one in the history of the Society of the Alumni of Denison University. During the past ten years, the Alumni work has been so greatly expanded under the wise and kindly leadership of "Uncle Sam" Brierly that it has become too great a task for any one volunteer worker. At the last annual meeting of the Society, a new organization was therefore effected, and the officers of the new and greater Alumni Society are now as listed above. Three members of the Alumni Council will be elected each June and each will serve three years. The Council is in effect a board of trustees, to whom the responsibilities of Alumni administration are entrusted by the Society. With them the University is co-operating in every way. For the time being, for example, the salary of the Executive Secretary selected by the Alumni Council is paid by the University Trustees.

Leslie B. Moss, '11, entered upon his new duties as Executive Secretary of the Society of the Alumni in September. Already, the Executive Council have reason to be proud of his appointment to this new and important position. Under the new organization the Alumni work cannot fail but continue to expand. More and more, Alma Mater will feel the uplifting influence and unlimited vitality of her sons and daughters, who always will be loyal to her and always will be ready to do whatever they can to enhance her fair name in the collegiate world.

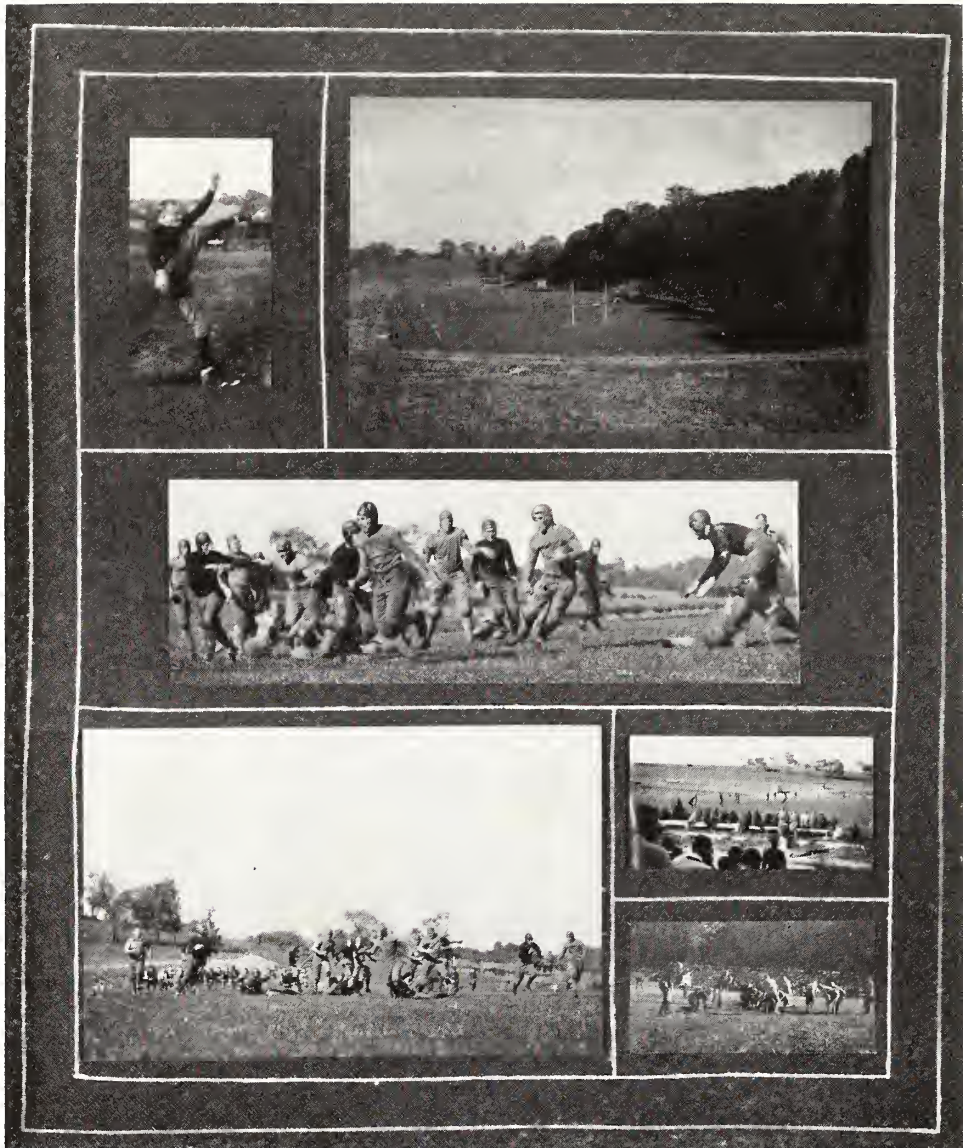

The Alumni are proud of the scholastic honors which have been won by many of their number during the year. At the Denison Commencement in June, the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon William E. Castle, '89. The preceding day the degree of Doctor of Philosophy was conferred upon Lily Bell Sefton, '11, by Ohio State University as recognition of the completion of her graduate studies in chemistry. Among the new appointments to the Denison Faculty, made during the year, there are several Alumni: Evelyn Cathcart, '18, Sue Helbing, '19, Herschel B. Lemon, '21, Thomas F. McMahon, '21, and Alma Blaisdell Skinner, '05.

The Alumni are also proud that through the efforts of one of their members one of the plans for Greater Denison has during this year become a reality. From Amelia Bancroft, G.F.C., '58, and Periander A. Taylor, '59, to Anna Teeter and Charles F. Wood of '21, every graduate of Denison joins in paying tribute to the loyalty to Denison which is displayed in so many ways by Edward A. Deeds, '97. May the college and its folk always be worthy of the confidence which he places in it and them.

For, after all, it's loyalty that counts. Honest, fearless, open-eyed loyalty, that recognizes the faults as well as the virtues, that impels toward unselfish service in the hope of improving the good until it becomes the very best—this is what Denison needs. And this is what every alumnus may give.

To the loyal band of Denisonians, which today encircles the earth and everywhere upholds the name of the school we love, the Alumni welcome the Class of 1922.

Class History

"Fall in! Attention!"———I can't use that old conventionality, "We were ushered in on the T. and O. C." No, we were drilled into Denison; we are the one and only S. A. T. C. class. Deeply impressed on our minds is Lieutenant Meeker and all the other victories and nightmares of our Freshman year.

How well we remember that night when we kept all Talbot Hall awake and when the Sophs tried to storm us, the next morning. The banners remained high on Talbot, and would be there yet, if "Livy" had not had a grouch that day. We didn't have to wear caps and green buttons, of course, under the military regime; still, it is not boasting to say that we would soon have been able to discard them.

Next year, we did blossom out in new head gear, sapphire blue caps with buttercup yellow buttons and bands, and they have been worn with reverence ever since. We passed through this year still being able to say we had never lost a scrap.

As Juniors—well, we were the real stuff. We carefully took care of the Freshmen, and after our own two victories and that first one of theirs, we celebrated with a never-to-be-forgotten party. We will never forget the burial of "Willy's" English Book, since we are the last class to derive the benefits of his teaching of Junior English.

Now to become dignified as Seniors, we have little to say. We have a closely unified Class and are preparing to leave Denison as one, ever remaining loyal to our old "School on the Hill."

R. M. TILTON, Historian.

MARJORIE ALLEN, Ph.B., S.C. Cortland, N. Y.
Denisonian, Society Editor (3, 4); Masquers; Student Volunteer; Big Sister (3, 4).

Nothing proves how busy Marjorie always is better than her familiar "Busy" sign, that hangs outside her door. Further proof, if any other is necessary, is found in her grades, and her activity in Masquers and on the Denisonian. Nor would we neglect to mention her chief worry, how to get all this work done, with a man around.

ROBERT W. ABERNETHY, Ph.B., ØΓΔ, ØΜΑ
 Washington, D. C.

Alligator; Class President (2); Class Track (4), Baseball (1), Tennis (1); Varsity Track (3); D Association, Secretary (4); Student Government, Treasurer (4); Denisonian (1, 2, 3, 4), Editor-in-Chief (4); Adytum Board; Masquers; Glee Club (2, 3); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (3, 4); Secretary (4); Student Volunteer.

Being a journalist, actor, athlete, musician, and playwright—this is what has kept "Bob" busy during his four years. We wonder how he could manage all this, and still be a good student. Truly, his talents are many and varied. In spite of all these, however, he has found time to carry on a successful campaign with the little archer god.

ISABEL ANDERSON, Ph.B., S.C. Toledo, O.
Toledo University (1, 2); Student Volunteer.

Isabel belonged to last year's Senior Class, but something drew her back for a year of graduate work. Although she is rather quiet and modest, she accomplishes things in her own way, and has made many friends. We like to hear her talk, for her brogue is odd, and we'll miss it next year.

MORNA ADAMS, Ph.B., S.C. Columbus, O.
Ohio State University (2); Debate Squad (4).

Morna came back to us last year after having been away for two years. She is a girl pleasant to meet and one with whom it is easy to talk. We know the friends you have made here will miss you, Morna, and we wish you all kinds of luck.

DOROTHY ANGEVINE, A.B. Pataskala, O.
College of Wooster (3); Classical Club.

In attempting to write of Dorothy, we feel somewhat as though we were delving into hidden treasure—known by certain signs to be there, but for the most part, out of sight. From the glimpses we have had of her activity in the Classical Club, and her efficiency in the Library, we know that we at the Sem have been losers in not having had her with us.

VERNITA ALLISON, PH.B., $\Sigma\Delta\Theta$ Cambridge, O.

Class Secretary (2); Adytum Board; Big Sister (3, 4); Inter-Sorority Council (4); Assistant in Education (3, 4).

Vernita's manner is pleasant and attractive. No wonder that "Richard" always has such a hearty laugh for everything funny, with her cheerful disposition to keep him happy. Whenever there's something to be done, she is ready to tackle the job, and her ability enables her to accomplish most anything.

THELMA BAKER, B.S., S.C. Johnstown, O.

Mathematics Club (1, 2, 3, 4).

It hardly seems fair that Thelma should be given an overdose of brains, while the rest of us struggle along without any. When you have made a big success in the wide world, Thelma, will you remember to help your old friends at Denison? We will miss you for more than your brains, though,—we will miss you for your friendly self.

RICHARD R. BARRINGTON, B.S., $\mathbf{K}\Sigma$ St. Marys, O.

Class President (1); Class Football (1); Chemical Society.

What he was when he came to us we do not recall, but he leaves the mill a chemist. In all that he undertakes the spirit of the analyzer portrays itself. In fact, many have wondered if he would not make a good Sherlock. When it comes to popularity "Dick" belongs to the elite, among both sexes, and all who know him feel that wherever he goes when he leaves this college home, his success will be assured.

CARL BIEFELD, B.S. Granville, O.

Special work in Geology.

"Biefy" is following his father into the scientific world, but his interests are in the rocks and soils, and not in the skies. We hope he'll reach the same degree of success in the scientific world that his father has attained. Carl is not talkative, but seems to live the saying "Facta non Verba."

CORAL M. BACKUS, PH.B., $\mathbf{X}\Psi\Delta$ Warren, O.

Baseball (3); W.A.A.; Adytum Board; Big Sister; Chemical Society (2); Classical Club (3, 4); Assistant in English (3, 4).

'Twould be hard to find a more sincere friend than Coral,—one ready to laugh with you and have a good time, one always ready to sympathize and lend a helping hand. We really don't wonder that Bill,—well, likes to walk home from chapel with Coral. What Beta party would be complete without her? No, Bill, we don't blame you at all.

RALPH BOWEN, B.S., D.C.C. Canton, O.

Ralph has spent his time in the sterner occupation of studying and has never seemed to care to mingle with the crowd. Still he is a true blue friend, and many will miss his quiet and unassuming presence when he leaves us.

GEORGE WAYLAND BENNETT, Ph.B., AXA Philadelphia, Pa.

Denisonian (3); Flamingo (3, 4); Masquers; Student Volunteer; Pan-Hellenic Council (3); Assistant in Chemistry (2, 3, 4); Chemical Society, President (4).

George is essentially a doer; usually quiet, he does things without advertising himself. He has made the long climb in three years, a fact that shows something of his scholastic ability. Much of his spare time is put in down in the H2S factory—he's come to be Dr. Ebaugh's right-hand man. George will succeed, if quiet determination will do it.

MARGUERITE BOSS, B.S., S.C. Newark, O.
Classical Club.

The popular girls in King,—and their admirers,—will bear testimony to Marguerite's willingness and untiring patience. She is always storing away in her mind treasures of knowledge to give to her "dear pupils" next year; in other words, she studies diligently and is really brilliant; in Latin she excels. Let us give honor to those to whom honor is due.

HELEN BEENEY, B.S., S.C. Granville, O.
Mathematics Club.

Helen is one of our town girls upon whose quiet, but never-failing support we can always count. Her professors, too, find that she is one of those rareties, a student who always reports with a well-prepared lesson, and this even in the Department of curves, angles, and logarithms. Blest indeed, we say, but yet we suspect it is nearer the truth that Helen has worked out this salvation for herself, and thus is worthy of still greater praise.

THOMAS VASSAR CAULKINS, JR., Ph.B., D.C.C. Factoryville, Pa.

Varsity Baseball Squad (2); Varsity Tennis (3); Captain (4); D Association; Student Government (4); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (3, 4); Jaw Bones.

"Tom" is one of the greatest organizers that any Denison student body ever had. He possesses an influential personality and makes it felt; he speaks with a versatile tongue, and says something when he talks; in every task to which he turns his energy he works with efficiency. He is one of the many seniors who will carry to the world of affairs manhood, character and true Denison spirit.

MARIE BOYER, B.S., $\Sigma\Delta\phi$ Library, Pa.

Margaret Morrison Carnegie School (1); Baseball (4); W.A.A.; Student Government (4); Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (4); Big Sister (3, 4); Mathematics Club, Vice-President (4).

Marie attracts you at a first glance by her curly blonde hair and big brown eyes. But you'll find that her beauty is not just skin-deep, for a more lovable friend would be hard to find. She's clever, too, and bright, for she has accumulated a good number of A's. Marie has shown her capability in holding the responsible positions the Student Government and the Y.W.C.A. have placed on her.

WILLIAM EMERSON BURKE, B.S., D.C.C.
Hammond, Ind.

Class Track (1, 2); Varsity Debate (4); Masquers; Student Volunteer; Gospel Team (4); Mathematics Club, President (4); Assistant in Mathematics (2, 3, 4).

Emerson is one of those rare fellows who not only work hard, but work unselfishly. His eyes have been bothering him, but this handicap has not kept him from making an enviable scholarship record, and being active in numerous organizations. Emerson makes an excellent appearance on the platform, which accounts for his activity in debate and dramatics.

MARGARET BURT, Ph.B., $\Sigma\Delta\phi$
Huntington, W. Va.

Basketball (2, 3, 4); Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4); D. U. Association; W.A.A.; Adytum Board; Big Sister (3, 4).

"Peg" is the best sport ever. You can have a good time with her anywhere and anytime. But sometimes she does get serious, and some of us think she is, with a certain young gentleman. Her pretty brown eyes and dimples couldn't help but cause something like that. Of course, she's famed in athletics,—the above record tells about them.

STUART CAMMETT, Ph.B., $\phi\Delta\theta$
Minneapolis, Minn.

Baseball, Class (1, 2, 3, 4); Adytum Board; Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (3, 4); Classical Club; Geological Society.

"Stu" came from the floury Northwest to augment the fame of Denison. His w.k. grin and cheerful line are always on deck, whether he dashes around the diamond, collects the cash at Varsity games, or hustles for the Y.M.C.A. His latest activity is his appointment as Dean of the Phi Delt House, using Dr. Tanner's means and methods for keeping scholarship up to a high standard. Cammett is interested in the advertising game.

OPAL CALHOUN, Ph.B., S.C. Ostrander, O.

Ohio University (1); Glee Club; Masquers; Basketball (2, 3, 4); Baseball (3, 4); All-Shepardson (3, 4); D. U. Association; Jaw Bones; Big Sister (3, 4); Flamingo Staff (3, 4).

Ohio University lost a good girl, when Opal came to us her second year. She has taken a big part in Denison's activities and life; not only can she sing and act, but her athletic and literary ability is recognized by all. Opal, we wish you as great success in the wide world as you have achieved here with us.

MARY BRUCE, B.S., KΘ Garrettsville, O.

Baseball (2); W.A.A.; Adytum Board; Big Sister (3, 4); Biological Society; Assistant in Botany (3, 4).

"My heart's in Columbus; my heart is not here." Thus sings Peggy, explaining why her week-ends in the city give her such great delight. We love her because she's an unselfish, considerate, and loyal friend. We're wishing you success and happiness, Peg.

CHARLES H. CARVER, PH.B., D.C.C. Lakewood, O.

Class Track (1, 2); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (1, 4); Student Volunteer; Jaw Bones; Assistant in English (3, 4).

"Bill" is everybody's friend. What more need be said of a man? "Bill" is an industrious student, who wisely mixes a goodly portion of physical training with the academic life. "Bill's" work will be along religious lines, and, whether at home or abroad, he will be a dynamic force in his field. Conscientious service receives its reward.

HERRICK TALBOT BAWDEN, B.S., D.C.C.

Granville, O.

Student Volunteer; Class Track (2, 3); Assistant in Zoology (1, 2, 3, 4).

Herrick has been around Granville a long time and has come to know its every nook and corner. His major activity has centered around the Zoology Department, where he has distinguished himself as a shark at specimen hunting. He is head nurse for the College's bug and butterfly collection.

HELEN ELIZABETH CHENEY, A.B., KΘ, ΔΘ

Brooklyn, N. Y.

White Nun; Student Government (3, 4); Denisonian (2); Y.W.C.A., Vice-President (3), President (4); Big Sister (3, 4); Classical Club; Inter-Sorority Council (4).

Have you ever read in the Bible about those people who "shine as lights in the world?" Well, whoever wrote that probably waxed prophetic and thought of Helen. She has been the firm foundation of the Y.W.C.A.—always a faithful worker and a loyal friend. Nor are these her only interests. Evidently the proverbial blue eyes and golden hair are not the requisites of a certain fraternity's sweetheart, or Helen would not be the object of such constant attention from one of its members.

RUTH CALVIN, A.B.

Newark, O.

Post Graduate Work towards M.A. Akron University (1, 2, 3, 4); Shepardson Debate Squad.

Most of us are fully satisfied with a store of knowledge accumulated in four years, or at any rate, do not care to add to it, but we admire the diligence and perseverance of one who keeps on. And we're glad that you chose Denison, Ruth, for your graduate work.

MADÉLINE COLOMBET, PH.B., S.C. Nantes, France

Brevet-Superieur from the Lycee de Nantes.

Madeline has had an experience which none of us has enjoyed,—that of taking the first two years of college in France. We are glad she came to Denison, for we have all enjoyed knowing her. Madeline, when you go back to France, don't forget that if the French don't appreciate you, we will be glad to have you come back to us.

EDMONSTON JOHN DAVIS, B.S., D.C.C.

Hammond, Ind.

Mathematics Club; Assistant in Mathematics (4); Band (2, 3, 4).

"Shorty" has been a scientific student of the first rank. He is best known around the Math. Department and in the Physics Lab., where he has proved to be a veritable wizard on electrical problems. We predict a real success for "Shorty" as an electrical engineer.

FRANCES CROMER, A.B.

Wheaton, Ill.

Wheaton College (1, 2); Baseball (3); W.A.A.; Student Government (4); Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (4); Classical Club, Secretary (4).

The fact that Frances is House President of Stone Hall this year is perhaps the reason no loud shrieks emanate from her room, for we are sure she sees just as many bats—real or imaginary—as she once did. Bats or no bats, Frances is the best sort of a pal; she's made more friends in her two years than most people do in four. Her frankness and earnestness make her a worthy friend.

EUGENE L. EXMAN, PH.B., D.C.C. Blanchester, O.

Student Government (4); Adytum Board; Denisonian (2, 3); Flamingo, Feature Editor (3, 4); Student Volunteer; Ministerial Association; Jaw Bones, President (4); Assistant in English (3, 4).

"Gene" is genial, despite the fact that a pun is the "lowest form of humor." His ready smile and sociability have won for him a host of friends. He has a liking for clever literary work, and has ably handled the feature sections of Flamingo and Denisonian. This year has kept him busy with Baptist Young People's work—his success there promises a well-deserved place in the field of religious work, which he plans to enter.

DOROTHY DAUB, PH.B., ΣΔΦ, ΔΟ Trenton, O.

White Nun; Glee Club; Athletic Association, President (4); D. U. Association; Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4), All-Shepardson (1, 2, 3); Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4); Joint Council (4); Delegate to Eaglesmere (3); Flamingo Staff (3); Adytum Board; Big Sister (3, 4); Inter-Sorority Council (4); Assistant in English (3, 4).

"Dick" is an all-round girl. If you want a good athlete, call on "Dick." If you want someone to play the piano or to sing in a quartet, "Dick" is the girl. Or if you feel blue, and want to be cheered up, bring in "Dick"; her laugh will do it. As yet her fate is undecided, but we wish she could stay with us.

ODETTE CLARENC, PH.B., S.C. Dijon, France
Colleges of Rouen, Nancy, and Dijon (1, 2); Cosmopolitan Club.

Knowing Odette for the two years which she has spent with us has seemed like having a little corner of the "Sunny France" of song and story brought to us. Those captivating brown eyes of hers surely betray this little vivacious mademoiselle. However, it is Odette's true friendliness that has done most to captivate all of us, and so we'll not say "Goodbye." Odette, but just "Au revoir."

ELEANOR FLOYD, PH.B., ΣΔΦ Henderson, Ky.
Baseball (2, 3, 4); W.A.A.; Flamingo Staff (4); Big Sister; Geological Society (4); Assistant in Spanish (3).

We hate to see our friend Eleanor start South again this June. It will be a long time before Stone Hall-ites fall heir to another friend so big-hearted and unselfish—and how we will miss those yarns told in that inimitable drawl with much gesticulation. Eleanor's word on the subject of Spanish is authority. How she manipulates the difficulties of that pronunciation so successfully with that Southern accent has always been a mystery.

CAREY C. CRONEIS, B.S., ØBK, ØΔΘ Bucyrus, O.

Class President (4); Student Government, Secretary (4); Varsity Tennis (2, 3, 4), Manager (3); Editor-in-Chief Adytum; Denisonian, Associate Editor (4); Student-Faculty Conference Committee; Assistant in Chemistry (2, 3, 4); Assistant in Mathematics (2).

Behold!—a real scholar. Carey has done all manner of things, as the above list reveals, and on top of it all, earned the coveted key as a Junior. His studies have not hurt him, as they are often apt to, and he's earned a major down the Hill, around Stone Hall.

DONALD R. FITCH, PH.B., KΣ, ØMA Chicago, Ill.

University of Chicago (1); Class Treasurer (3, 4); Glee Club (2, 3, 4), Leader (4); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (4); Pan-Hellenic Council (4); Board of Control of Musical Activities (4); Assistant in Mathematics (4).

Mathematics and music form an unusual combination: "Don" excels in both. Although he was not with us his Freshman year, he has made his presence thrice felt in these last three. What better recommendation could a man have than to be re-elected to a second term as treasurer of his Class? His natural talent and business ability have made him a leader in his Class.

CHARLES A. COOPER, JR., PH.B., ΣX Dayton, O.

Varsity Track (2), Manager (3); Class Track (1, 2); D Association; Chemical Society; Jaw Bones.

"Chuck" has completed his college career deservedly earning the reputation of being a good student, and a finished "fusser." "Livy" expected to use him in the broad jump, but a bad knee kept him out, and he earned his letter managing the track team. We'll predict a gay, successful bachelor life for "Chuck."

GEORGE H. GLEISS, B.S., KΣ Detroit, Mich.

Class Historian (3); Class Football (1, 2); Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Adytum Board; Glee Club (3, 4); Orchestra (1, 3); Band (1, 4).

"Dutch" has entertained us for four years and now he is about to enter the world of affairs and carry on his good work. Unassuming, cool, yet always determined, he has smiled on work and play alike, and be it what it may, he does everything before him in the spirit of friendliness and optimism. He is the kind of a man the world will be glad to meet.

MARIAN GARLAND Ph.B., S.C. Pittsburgh, Pa.

Big Sister (4).

Marian will be one of our youngest girls to graduate. She has finished her course in three and one-half years. The gods have favored her with real talent in dancing, for she is very successful in tripping "the light fantastic." Added to her accomplishments is a keen sense of humor and a power of entertaining. What will Stone Hall do next year without her lively presence?

ELROY SIMON GUCKERT, Ph.B., ØΓΑ

Sandusky, O.

Northwestern University (2); Class Basketball (1, 2, 3); Track, Captain (1); Varsity Football (3, 4); Baseball (1, 2, 3); Basketball (2, 3, 4); Baseball (2, 3), Captain (4); D Association; Band (1, 2); Pan-Hellenic Council (3); Assistant in Physical Education (4).

The Class of 1922 will take with it a group of worthy athletes, men whose ability is not limited to a single sport, but who are skilled in different games. Such a man is Guckert. His versatility is shown by his famous seventy-yard dash in the Ohio University game, his close guarding, on the basketball floor, and his speed and accuracy on the diamond. But, as much as "Livy" will miss this, still more we'll miss our good-natured friend.

WANETA GUTTERY, A.B., S.C. Lincoln, Illinois

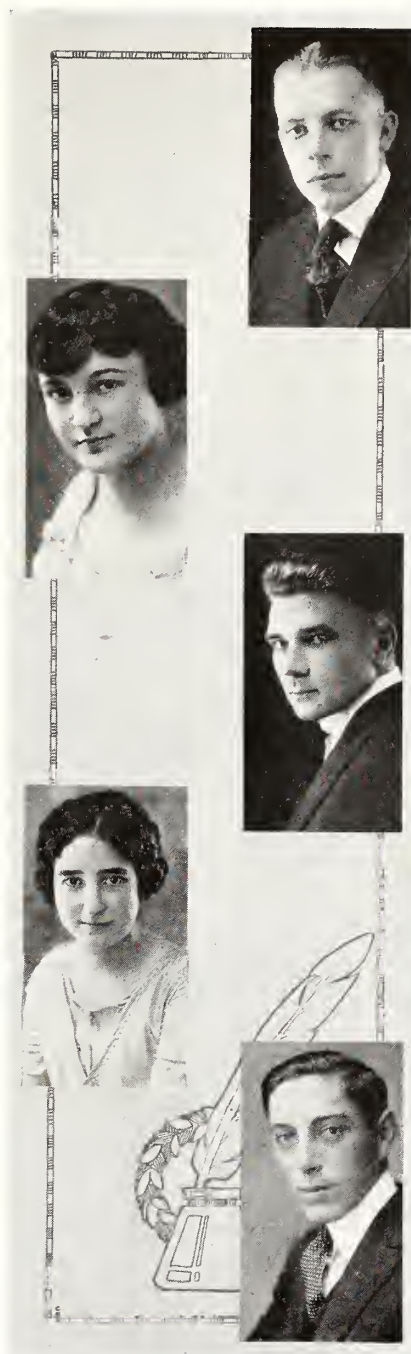

Illinois State Normal University (1, 2); Glee Club, Treasurer (4); Classical Club, Vice-President (4).

Waneta's big brown eyes just seem to radiate friendliness and cheer. Her ready smile attracts you instantly, and you can see that she keeps busy helping others. Waneta can always be depended upon—her place will not be filled easily next year.

J. MARK HANNA, B.S., D.C.C. Huntsville, O.

Class Track (2); Mathematics Society.

The Department of Physics has held great attractions for Mark—in fact, hard science courses seemed to attract him. After a year or two of teaching, Mark expects to do some graduate work in Engineering.

AMY FIRESTONE, B.S.

Spencer, O.

Oberlin College (1); Kent Normal College (1); Geological Society (2); Biological Club (4); Assistant in Physical Education (1).

Amy has not been with us all four years, but has made the three spent here count for something. She is so optimistic and full of fun that anyone enjoys being with her. Of her many friends, she is particularly devoted to Margaret, with whom she is always seen. We wish Amy were going to be with us longer.

HARRY McMILLAN HAYES, PH.B., D.C.C.

Mt. Vernon, O.

Varsity Tennis (3, 4); Class Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); D Association.

Seeing Harry walking across the Campus, one might suspect him of being a dignified scholar, but, when he speaks, the illusion disappears. His supply of pep is abundant,—he hardly ever speaks without a smile and a joke. Harry has demonstrated his athletic ability on the gym floor, in four seasons as a '22 forward, and by wielding a racquet for the Big Red. The way he covers a court is far out of proportion to his size; his drives and serves must come from a good set of muscles.

LETHA JACKSON, B.S.

Granville, O.

Mathematics Club; Big Sister.

A Beta girl is Letha. We'll agree, Hal, that she's a real girl, blessed with good looks, cheerfulness, sincerity, love of fun, and, what is essential in her intended occupation, ability as a cook and a housekeeper. To you—and yours, the best of luck.

RALPH M. HENDRICKS, PH.B., D.C.C. Dayton, O.

Mathematics Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Assistant in Spanish.

"Hen" is another Dayton man, sent here after Steele High had done all she could for him. His shyness has kept many from knowing him intimately, but those who know him best, appreciate him most. His major activity has been around the swimming pool; and correcting Spanish papers, a minor diversion.

REDA W. GRAY, PH.B., S.C.

Newark, O.

Reda is another of those who, by their faithful patronage, have made the Newark-Granville Bus Line a profitable enterprise. Because she lives in Newark, we have been able to know her only "on the Hill," but we have there discovered that a readiness to be of help is a decided characteristic of hers. We notice that pessimism finds no place in her outlook, but rather, she is a constant wearer of the proverbial rose-colored glasses. With such equipment we feel sure that you, Reda, are well prepared to face that cold world which we understand Seniors go into.

ELLA HOWELL, B.S., XΨΔ

Granville

Student Government (4); Adytum Board; Denisonian (3); Masquers; Big Sister (4); Zoology Club, President (3); Inter-Sorority Council (4).

Ella doesn't make much fuss about things, but she gets there. She stands at the top in classes, and still has time to spend with her many friends. Ella is mighty capable and thorough in all she undertakes. Her chief interest seems to lie in "Zoo." We wonder why! We are predicting a happy, busy future for you and the "Doctor," Ella.

DAVID LEE JOHNSON, Ph.B.

Granville, O.

Valparaiso University (1); Ministerial Association.

David's three years in Granville have been worthwhile for him and for Denison. His contribution has been conscientious scholarship, and although he doesn't say much, such men are often the most useful in life. His willingness to work and his sincerity will place him in a real task in the ministry.

KATHERINE HUNT, B.S., XΨΔ

Dayton, O.

White Nun; Glee Club; Student Government, Vice-President; Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (2, 3); Class Vice-President (2, 4); Eaglesmere Delegate (1); Adytum, Assistant Editor; Inter-Sorority Council (4); Big Sister (4); Geological Society; Sunday School Teacher (3); Denisonian Staff (2).

"Katie's" accomplishments are many and diverse. We don't exactly see how one girl could do many more things than she does and still exist. She is one of these girls who is called upon to do everything, because she can and will. Be careful, "Katie," when you stray from our fold, not to carry the whole world on your shoulders.

AUGUST FABLE JONES, B.S., ΣΧ Cincinnati, O.

Band (1, 2, 3, 4); R.O.T.C., Captain (3), Major (4); Assistant in Mathematics (2); Assistant in Physics (4); Engineering Society, Vice-President (4).

"Gus" is quietly dignified and efficient. One of his tricks is pulling down fifteen or twenty hours of A each time grades come out. Under his retiring exterior, "Gus" hides an amiable and pleasing personality. Several professors have had his help as their assistant—he ended up by marching at the head of our College Army.

MILDRED HALL JENKINS, Ph.B., ΣΔΦ, ΔΟ

Willard, O.

Basketball (1, 2, 3), Captain (2); Baseball (1, 2, 3); D. U. Association, President (4); W.A.A.; Adytum Board; Glee Club (1, 3, 4), Business Manager (4); Big Sister (3, 4).

"Peg" has taken an active part in a great number of organizations. Her ability in music is especially notable—she has done a great deal for music in Denison. She likes athletes and athletics, and the Senior teams have missed her badly this year. Her friends have missed her greatly this semester.

RICARDO DUSSAN, B.S., D.C.C.

Baraya, Huila, Colombia

Mathematics Club (3, 4); Cosmopolitan Club President (4).

"Dick" travelled many a long mile to attend Denison, but he says he has been fully repaid. Next fall will find Dussan at Berkeley, California, whence he expects to return as a civil engineer to his home. His work as president of the Cosmopolitan Club reveals his popularity and natural ability.

LOIS JONES, PH.B., KΘ, ΔO Keuka Park, N. Y.

White Nun; Masquers; Class Vice-President (3); Basketball (1, 3, 4); Baseball (4); Tennis (3, 4); D. U. Association; W.A.A.; Adytum Board; Denisonian, Associate Editor (3); Flamingo, Associate Editor (3); Glee Club, Accompanist (3, 4); Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (2); Undergraduate Field Representative; Big Sister (3, 4); Inter-Sorority Council (4); Assistant in English (2, 3, 4); Conservatory Graduate in piano.

Activities, yes, but even this formidable list does not tell all that can be said about this enterprising Senior. For instance, at Sunday afternoon sings, Lois officiates at the piano; on University Night, the Class stunt is left to Lois' originality—in Freshman days, Lois has ideas, with illustrations, regarding class colors—in the dignity of Seniordom, at Etiquette Meeting, the Freshmen learn from Lois how they should dress; and with all of this, Lois has found time for other things, as that "Fiji" pin and that diamond disclose.

FRANCES KING, B.S., S.C. Mountain View, Okla.

Student Government (4); Debate Council (4); Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (3, 4); Student Volunteer, Vice-President (4); Big Sister (3, 4); Mathematics Club, Vice-President (3); Assistant in Mathematics (2, 3); Assistant in Zoology (4).

This record evidences Frances' many activities and capabilities. Most of all, she's a conscientious worker, and no matter what kind of task presents itself, she handles it well. After running the Missionary Committee, and assisting the professors, she will be sorely missed next year.

FLORENCE LUELLA LADD, PH.B., ΣΔΘ

Bowling Green, O.

Bowling Green State Normal School (1); Basketball (3, 4); Baseball (2, 4); Hockey (3); W.A.A.; Big Sister (4).

Laddie's small, yes, but we all know that her pep and adorableness didn't stop growing when she did. She carries around an unlimited supply of enthusiasm, whether she darts around the basketball floor or sings the praises of "The Crescent and the Star." Her fudge's fame has not stopped at the Sem, for we have seen many a box leave Burton Hall.

CLARKE OLNEY, PH.B., KΣ East Orange, N. J.

Class Treasurer (2); Adytum Board; Denisonian Staff (1, 2, 3), Associate Editor (3); Flamingo (3, 4), Editor-in-Chief (4); Masquers; Jaw Bones.

Clarke is numbered among the select list of college wits. His position as chief caretaker of the Mystic Bird has given him plentiful opportunity to impress us with that fact. Clarke is a star of the first rank in imitating English clergymen, and his presence in the cast of a Masquers' play has been a big drawing card. The Olney family has just moved to the East, and Clarke is changing his ways accordingly.

CLYDE E. KEELER, B.S., D.C.C. Marion, O.

Varsity Track Squad (3, 4); Adytum Board (3, 4), Art Editor (4); Denisonian, Art Editor (3); Flamingo (3, 4), Art Editor (4); Glee Club (4); Zoological Club (3); Biological Society (4); Cosmopolitan Club; Student Volunteer.

Here is a man, really full of pep, and ideas. Clyde is a real scholar, yet he finds time to run around Lovers' Lane, and pace off the mile for Denison, to be active in several organizations, and to be the artist of the school. Glance at the Flamingo, or notice the art work in this book, and more than likely there will be a small "Clyde" down in the corner. He is of the concentrating type that can attain speed and steadiness at once.

LILLIAN LINDROOTH, Ph.B., X Ψ Δ , $\Delta\Theta$ Newark, O.

Adytum Board; Big Sister.

Here's another matter for someone to worry about—how could "Lil" be a Big Sister to anybody? But just ask her Freshmen, they'll tell you that she's got more fun in her than most people twice as big as she is. She spends much of her time in Newark, so that we don't see a great deal of her. When it's a question of style, or of having a good time, ask "Lil"—she is sure authority.

W. EDWARD LAWS, B.S., ΣAE Bethesda, O.
Class Football (1, 2), Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4), Basketball (2, 3, 4), Tennis (1); Varsity Football (1, 2, 3, 4); Orchestra (1, 2); Pan-Hellenic Council (2, 3, 4), Baseball (2, 3, 4); D. Association; Bardcil (4); Engineering Society.

"Beaucoup's" athletic record has made his name long to be remembered around Denison. "Fat" aspires to be an engineer, and we trust that the future will bring the same pronounced success that has attended his exploits on the "Big Red." Many are the loyal friends who will miss Laws' good-natured smile next year.

HARRIETTE K. McCANN, Ph.B., X Ψ Δ Dayton, O.
White Nun; Basketball (4); Tennis, Manager (2); Swimming (2, 3, 4); D. U. Association; Athletic Association, Secretary-Treasurer (2); Student Government (4); Adytum (3, 4); Flamingo (3); Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (3, 4); Big Sister; Assistant in Physical Education (3).

Through her four years at Denison, "Hi" has been exceedingly busy. Her list of activities testifies to that. Being a charter member of the D. U. Association speaks for her athletic ability; she has succeeded in making her Y.W.C.A. Committee a force on the Campus; she has contributed art work to the publications; and when it comes to making speeches—well, "Dick" might step forward and take a lesson.

HOWARD G. LINDEMAN, Ph.B., D.C.C. Newark, O.
Class Track (2, 3, 4); Varsity Track (2, 3, 4).

"Lindy" is another worthy soul who has run the two-mile all of two track seasons for the Big Red. Although it wasn't always he who broke the tape, he ran this hard race with pluck and patience. Living in Newark, and his quiet manner, has kept this gentleman from knowing us as well as we would have liked him to.

STEPHEN HOPKINS LAPP, PH.B., BØII, ØMA
Granville, O.

University of Denver (3); Glee Club (2, 4); Soloist (4); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (2); Evening Librarian, University Library (4).

We haven't seen much of "Steve" this year—he's carrying about twenty hours, and running the night shift at the Library. "The Call of the Wild," or some strange attraction took "Steve" clear out to Denver last year, but he managed to break home ties and come back here. We wish he could stay awhile, but we fear the wild and woolly west will call him back about the time his last exam is over.

RALPH GORDON LUSK, B.S., BØII Granville, O.

Des Moines College (1); Varsity Basketball, Manager (4); Geology Society, President (4); Assistant in Geology (1), Chief Assistant (2), Instructor (3, 4).

"Ralph" has spent practically all his time in the Geology Department, as student and as teacher. While Dr. Mather was in South America, he had charge of the entire Department. His thoughtfulness, and willingness to help anyone at any time have gained him a host of admirers. But more important even than geology has been his little wife, and his little twins.

EFFIE MAPLE, B.S., S.C. Burton, W. Va.
Biological Club (4); Big Sister (4).

We'll miss Effie next year when we are looking for good workers for our committees, especially in the Y.W.C.A. Then too, there'll be a vacant chair up in the Botany Lab., where she always is, when not writing letters to a certain friend.

THELMA MAZEY, PH.B., XΨΔ Newark, O.
W.A.A.; Hockey (3), All-Shepardson (3); Big Sister (4).

Wherever "Buzz" is, you are sure to have a good time. She might almost be Fun personified. With her bobbed hair, snappy eyes, and gay laugh, you can't help liking her. Where will we find another such good sport, "Buzz," when you leave us?

D. SELDON MATTHEWS, B.S., D.C.C. Hubbard, O.
Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (3), President (4), Student Government (4); Delegate to National Student Disarmament Convocation; Varsity Debate, Alternate (3), Captain (4); Board of Control of Debate and Oratory, Secretary (4); Biological Club; Student Volunteer, Ohio Delegate to National Council (2).

As a prize whiskey tenor and the owner of the most "brilliant" head in the University, "Red" has come in for more than his share of jokes and has deserved them all. "Red" says he's earned several D's and made a couple of All-Denison gospel teams, on the side. But he's not all fun—in that head, we've found a mind that thinks deeply and clearly through school and world problems.

ELIZABETH NICHOLSON, PH.B., ΣΔØ

Cambridge, O.

Randolph-Macon College (1); Adytum Board; Denisonian (2); Big Sister (4).

"Betty" is always ready and willing to do whatever she is called upon to do. She's shown herself to be a true and loyal friend, has worked faithfully on various social committees, and has often aided in the success of University stunts. But with all her other tasks, she managed to devote a good part of her time to one lucky man, Robert himself.

FRANK JULIAN OLNEY, B.S., ΣΧ Waltham, Mass.

Wentworth Institute (1); Bucknell University (2); Y.M.C.A., Treasurer (4); Engineering Society.

Frank was the last of this generation of Olneys to find his place among us, since he was transplanted from Bucknell at the beginning of his Junior year. We are glad the name of this engineer and all-around capable man will grace a Denison sheepskin. Did you ever notice how much pleasure Frank finds in drawing Kappa Phi coats-of-arms?

CHARLES EDWARD OLNEY, PH.B., ΒΘΙΙ

Waltham, Mass.

Boston University (1); Adytum Board (2, 3, 4); Art Staff, Flamingo (3); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (3), Vice-President (4); Student Volunteer Band, President (4).

Another representative of a famous Denison family, "Charlie" finally found his way to Granville, after spending a year at Boston and two years as a "gob." Although he has borne a lot of responsibility in the religious activities of the school, his work has not been confined to narrow limits, as he has found time to contribute art work to the publications, and helped gain for Denison her reputation as a reliable matrimonial bureau.

GLEN SHURTLEFF OWEN, PH.B., ØΔΘ

Columbus, O.

Alligator; Green Friar; Varsity Football (2, 3, 4), Captain (4), Basketball (2, 3, 4), Baseball (2, 4), Track (2, 3, 4); D Association, President (3); Board of Control of Athletics (3); President Athletic Association (4); Student Government, President (4); Adytum Board; Pan-Hellenic Council (3, 4).

With the mention of the name "Yip," there appears in the mind of every Denisonian a vivid picture, either of a perfect spiral punt sailing seventy yards or more through the blue, a lithe body broad-jumping twenty-two feet, a sensational catch in center field, or a clever under-basket shot. His name will go down as one of Denison's famous athletes. Athletics, however, have not hindered his entry into other activities. His was the heavy responsibility for handling the affairs of Granville College, as the president of the Student Association.

EDNA PATTERSON, PH.B., S.C. Columbus, O.

Baseball (3); W.A.A.; Big Sister; Biological Club; Assistant in Botany (3); Assistant in Zoology (4).

Stone Hall will surely miss Edna next year, not merely because she has spent all four years there, but because she is the kind of a girl who is missed when she leaves. Edna is very artistic and capable, a mighty fine friend, witty, and always ready for a good time. Not only Stone Hall will miss you, Edna; all of us will.

WILLIAM HOWARD NORRIS, A.B. Granville, O.
College of Wooster (1, 2).

Wooster lost a good man, and a good scholar, when Norris left there, to come here. A great deal of his time is spent in the libraries, but this delving into religious subjects has not robbed his eyes of their merry twinkle. In his short stay here, he has formed many friendships,—it is certain that he has the qualifications of a good minister.

HAROLD PERRY, B.S., ΣAE Clyde, O.
Engineering Society; Assistant in Zoology (2, 3, 4).

Perry hails from the country where sauerkraut manufacture is the leading industry. He is a farmer, and likes the cows and chickens, but he has proved that he does know something of engineering, since he has been at Denison. Harold spends his spare time with the cats and dog-fishes, up in "Korny's" hangout.

EVANGELINE NELLIS, B.S., S.C., ΔO Warren, O.
White Nun; Class Secretary (4); Swimming (2, 3); W.A.A.; Executive Board; Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4); Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (4); Big Sister (3, 4); Mathematics Club; Assistant in Mathematics (2, 3).

We consider Jerome a lucky man indeed. Think how easily our illustrious Fire Chief will be able to extinguish any fire which threatens her happy home. Her Y.W.C.A. work has satisfied us that she can make a good budget, and handle money efficiently. All in all, "Van's" a real Denison girl, and we repeat that we think Jerome Hurlbert a lucky man.

RAY MCCANN, Ph.B., D.C.C. Casper, Wyo.
Grand Island College (1, 2); Varsity Debate (4); Ministerial Association, President (4).

We regret that Ray wasn't with us his first two years in college. He has shown a good deal of ability, carrying a good many excess hours in order to graduate this year. Ray will leave a host of true friends behind him and we are confident of his future success.

MARCUS O. ORR, B.S., ΔXA Thornville, O.
Class Baseball (3); Chemical Society; Pan-Hellenic Council (3); Assistant in Chemistry (2, 3, 4).

"Moo" has brought many cheery hours to the inhabitants of the chemistry lab by his winning smile, which he wears at all times. Just what he intends to make of himself we can't tell, but Jacksontown seems to still hold some interest for him.

WILLIAM G. PEOPLES, B.S., D.C.C. Toledo, O.
Toledo University (1).

Peoples is another Senior who came late, rather than never, to Denison. His interests lie in religious work, and he spends his time about equally in preparing for that kind of work, and in keeping as far away as possible from the kind of life led by the fable-teller from Indiana.

ELOISE SANFORD, Ph.B., S.C., ΔO Granville, O.
Glee Club (3, 4); Big Sister (4).

To Eloise was given the power to charm, as Orpheus charmed, by liquid notes of beauty. And, as if this alone were not enough, she has added to it a very active interest in everything connected with Denison, and friendliness to every Denisonian. Is it any wonder that we are mighty sorry that it's almost time to say "Good-By"?

MARJORIE SCHAIRER, Ph.B. Cambridge, O.
Masquers; Big Sister; Assistant in Philosophy (3, 4).

Another Cambridgite,—and she does honor to her illustrious city. She's a staunch Masquer, has been an officer for three years, and has demonstrated to us her dramatic ability. Her philosophical turn of mind makes her a valuable assistant to Professor Spencer. We're going to miss you a great deal next year, Marjorie, for you have made your place among us.

JOSEPH POMERSON, B.S., ΣAE Sandusky, O.
Class Basketball (2, 3, 4), Baseball (2, 3, 4), Track (2, 3, 4); Varsity Football Squad (2, 3, 4); Baseball, Manager (4); D Association; Engineering Society.

"Joe" may be small in stature, but he radiates pep and gameness. He has made many friends here, because of his easy geniality. This year he has managed the baseball team—a suitable reward for his unselfish work on the football squad and in other athletics.

HAROLD A. PIEFFER, B.S., ΛXA Columbus, O.
Denisonian, Circulation Manager (2), Assistant Business Manager (3), Business Manager (4); Adytum Board; Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (4); Pan-Hellenic Council (3, 4); Geological Society.

"Pief" is again with us but he is not as active as usual. He seems to have reached the conclusion that all good times must end, so he has really become studious (at times). "Pief" has quite a large business head and no doubt this future is a successful one. Well, we all wish you good luck and lots of it.

EDGAR B. PENDLETON, B.S., D.C.C. Granville, O.

Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Orchestra (2, 3, 4); Track, Class (2).

Because he lives in town, "Penny" is not intimately known by many. These few, however, have a friend who is both cheerful and conscientious, and one who is always on hand to give a fellow a hand, or perhaps, a lift in the familiar Buick. Pendleton and his trombone have been faithful members of the band for the last four years.

MARGUERITE E. SCHULTE, B.S., K ϕ

Cleveland, O.

College for Women, Western Reserve University (1); Basketball (2, 3, 4); Baseball (2, 3, 4); Tennis (2, 3, 4); D. U. Association; W.A.A.; Big Sister (3, 4).

"Peg" is famous for her pep and lively conversations. In all sorts of athletics, "Schulte" is right there, and can swing a baseball bat with as much vengeance as she can her tennis racquet. She's been asked to serve on numerous committees, and with all her other interests, she never seems to get below an "A." Oh, yes, and we're not forgetting that she's a true Sig girl, even to "the blue of her eyes and the gold of her hair."

RAYMOND E. SCHAAD, B.S., D.C.C.

Millersport, O.

Chemical Society; Assistant in Mathematics (3, 4); Assistant in Chemistry (2, 3, 4).

"Ray" is in the straight and narrow path for Phi Beta Kappa, and indications are favorable that he will strike no by-paths. The Chemistry Laboratory seems to be the place for his most ardent efforts, but he is by no means in the fog down there. The bright light that is his cannot be dimmed by mere lab. smoke.

FRANCES PRIEST, A.B., S.C.

Sturgio, Mich.

Alma College (1, 2); Debate Squad (4); Classical Club; Student Volunteer.

Did I hear someone say "brains"? I understand that is the word which applies to Frances. She spent a year and a half at Alma College, and took summer work at Chicago University. Since she has been with us, she has made many friends, for she has been a good friend to everyone. We know you will make a good missionary, Frances.

EDWIN ROE, B.S.

Zanesville, O.

Chemical Society (2, 3, 4); First Lieutenant R.O.T.C.

"Red" is still strongly attached to Zanesville, Talbot Hall, and incidentally the Chemistry department. Above all he is a fine figure in a soldier's uniform, and we expect to find him a major, at least. "Red" never wasted his time and is the model young man who can "stand hitched after dark."

LAWRENCE HOOVEN PRUGH, PH.B., ØΓΔ

Xenia, O.

Class President (1); Student Government (4); Adytum Board; Flamingo Staff (3); Glee Club (2, 3); Jaw Bones; Classical Club; Pan-Hellenic Council, President (4).

"Larnie" is another loyal Denisonian who lives on Galloway Street, in the black-and-white metropolis of Xenia. It fell to his lot to gather together the remnants of the present Senior Class, after those disastrous S.A.T.C. months. That was a man's job, to be sure, and after that, "Larnie" pressed on into other activities.

ROBERT EDWIN RETTIG, B.S., ΣAE

Middletown, O.

Alligator; Varsity Football (2, 3, 4); Basketball (2, 3, 4), Captain (4); Baseball (2, 3, 4); Track (2, 3, 4); D Association; Athletic Association, Vice-President (4); Board of Control of Athletics (4); Class Representative, Student Government (4); Pan-Hellenic Council (3, 4); Chemical Society.

Big, friendly, and likable, "Bob" is one of those who will be missed most sorely next year. The above record indicates, in some degree, his ability as an athlete; he has earned a reputation for taking hard courses, having stuck by Dr. Ebaugh through the trials of all his classes. For three years "Bob" tended to business, and was conspicuous by his absence from the Sem. In his Senior year, however, he crowded four years of fussing into one, with the result—another Sig Alph serenade.

GLADYS SHREVE, XΨΔ, ΔΘ

Union City, Pa.

Glee Club (1, 2, 3).

Gladys went to Louisville last year, and brought back a silver cup, offered by the national president, and awarded to her as the best soloist in a national Delta Omicron contest. We've all enjoyed hearing her sing. She has taken an active part in the school's musical activities—has taken leading parts in the comic operas, put on by the musical organizations and in the Glee Club's concerts. We know you'll always give pleasure, "Glad," to those who hear you sing.

OPAL STANFORTH, A.B., S.C.

Granville, O.

Big Sister (3, 4); Classical Club.

We like Opal, not because her papa keeps a store, but because of her sterling qualities; she is a girl who is liked by all who know her. Sensible, but full of fun, a good sport, a generous, loyal friend,—such is Opal. We think those Latin scholars of yours are very fortunate, Opal.

WILLIAM H. RHOADES, PH.B., D.C.C., ØMA

Toledo, O.

Oberlin (1); Glee Club, Accompanist (4); Orchestra (3, 4); Board of Control of Musical Activities (4).

When in doubt about anything musical, see "Bill." He must have made a good start at Oberlin, to judge from the showing he has made here in things musical. "Bill's" a good student, too, and is the kind of fellow to have for a friend.

JOHN L. ROSENSTEEL, PH.B., ØΔΘ

Springfield, O.

Class Basketball, Manager (3); Jaw Bones; Band (1, 2), Leader (3, 4); Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (3).

"Rosy" came to Denison in the fall of '15, and was an active student for three years. He then enlisted in the Air Service, where he became a Second Lieutenant. He came back the first semester, a married man, to complete his work, and was graduated in February.

MARIAN SIMPSON, PH.B., KΘ Oak Park, Ill.

White Nun; Basketball (1, 2, 3, 4); Tennis (1, 2, 3, 4); Swimming (3); W.A.A.; Athletic Association, Vice-President (4); Joint Council (4); Adytum Board; Flamingo Staff (3); Masquers; Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (3, 4); Big Sister; Inter-Sorority Council.

Marian sauntered in from Oak Park four years ago to look the place over and she has been with us ever since. We wish her stay were going to last longer, for she proved herself a good friend and an all round girl. Aside from carrying off all possible honors in athletics, Marian is right there when it comes to Masquers, dignity or a regular good time.

JENNESS RUHL, B.S., KΘ Pomeroy, O.

Adytum Board; Big Sister (3, 4); Assistant in Mathematics (2, 3); Chemical Society (1).

When we think of Jenness, we think of mathematics and good-looking hair. It is hard to find a girl who enjoys mathematics, yet here is one who not only enjoys it, but can make good grades in it. And as for hair,—if you want your hair to look well, just let Jenness do it up. With all her accomplishments, you cannot find a sweeter or more unselfish girl in school than Jenness.

LAWRENCE SMITH, PH.B., KΣ Cleveland, O.

Class President (3); Student Government, Treasurer (3); Adytum, Advertising Manager; Flamingo, Circulation Manager (4); Masquers, President (4); Jaw Bones, Vice-President (4).

"Smittie's" four years at Denison have made of him an excellent executive, promising further success in the world of business. His activities have been as numerous as they were varied, running all the way from advertising managerships, to offices in such learned societies as Jaw Bones. His congeniality have gained them for him; his efficiency in matters of business have made him a success therein.

CRAIG SEASHOLES, B.S., ØΓΔ Granville, O.

Class Basketball (3), Track (2, 3); Varsity Track Squad (3); Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (4); Student Volunteer; Geological Club (2, 3); Mathematics Club (4); Assistant in Mathematics (2, 3, 4).

Craig had our respect and sympathy when he used to run around the track, four laps at a time. He's established an unbroken record in the broad grin, too—where Craig is, that cheerful smile is bound to be. Whether it was in the Mathematics Department, Y.M.C.A., in class, or in social activities, Craig has always been in it. He has seemed to have the energy to put things across efficiently.

HERBERT F. SCHNEIDER, B.S., ΣX , ΦMA
Dayton, O.

Adytum, Associate Editor; Glee Club (2, 3, 4);
Manager (4); Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Pan-Hellenic Council (4).

Another Sig from the so-called, but misnamed,
"Capitol of the World." Besides having an exceptionally good bass—very bass—voice, "Skippy" can play mean tunes on his saxophone. At the time of the New Men's Receptions, and the Varsity, or rather, the All-Shepardson dances, "Skippy" and his trained musicians are in great demand. But there is more than music in his make-up. He's a good sport and a real friend.

MARY SMALLEY, Ph.B., S.C. Clarion, Pa.

Clarion State Normal (2); Baseball (4); W.A.
A.; Student Volunteer; Joint Council (4); Big Sister (4); Jaw Bones, Secretary (4); Cosmopolitan Club; Assistant in Geology (4).

There is not a better liked girl in Denison than Mary. Some like her for her jovial manner, some for her sweet disposition, and some for her unselfish spirit. But, between you and me, the girls in Stone like her for the mail she brings. Behind her jollity there is an earnestness and sympathy which makes us all love her. With Mary as the missionary, it wouldn't be so bad to be a heathen.

RUTH TWining, B.S., $\Sigma \Delta \Phi$ Sandusky, O.

Detroit Junior College (1); Y.W.C.A., Treasurer (4); Big Sister (3, 4); Zoological Society
(1, 2); Chemical Society (3, 4); Sunday School
Teacher (4); Assistant in Zoology (3, 4).

Although Ruth's first year was spent at Detroit
Junior College, she has fitted into our school life here so well that we feel she has been with us always. Few girls possess more charm and poise than she. Maybe this is why she succeeds so well in whatever she undertakes. Her chief interest seems to be in Zoology. We may yet hear of her as the world-famed Dr. Twining.

GWLADYS SPENCER, Ph.B., ΔO , Cum Laude
Granville, O.

Western Reserve Library School, 1920-21.

Gwladys has come back to us this year, for which we are duly grateful, for we know and liked her when she was here before. In 1920, she graduated from the Conservatory, in Voice. Yes, she sings, even as the lark. And also, even as the lark, she soars above us in the classrooms,—her brilliant mind not in the same group as ours.

ADOLPH FRANK TALBOT, Ph.B., D.C.C. Tiffin, O.

Heidelberg (1); Football Squad (3, 4); Class
Football (2).

"Fido" has had his share of fun while in school.
If there were any pranks played, he got the credit, whether or not he were responsible. He has also seen the other side of college life and put in a good deal of time in the English Dept., assisting in his Junior year. We will miss "Fido" and his jolly ways.

HALFORD EDWIN WHITACRE, B.S., BOII
Bowling Green, O.

Varsity Track (2); D Association; Adytum Board; Chemical Society.

"Hal" used to have our sympathy when he ran the two-mile man-killer. His good work on the cinder path will be missed. Those of us who know him say he's a prince, but certain fair Senior will go one further and say he's her prince.

EMILY TAYLOR, PH.B., S.C. Clarksburg, W. Va.

Lewisburg (1); Big Sister (4); Chemical Society.

At first glance Emily might appear a trifle,—oh, yes, only just a trifle,—demure, but at the second glance,—and you could not resist giving that second look,—even that slight suggestion of demureness would have vanished, and you would discover a decidedly humorous glint darting from her eyes. Any Freshman who was lucky enough to have Emily for a Big Sister didn't have a chance to get homesick, for unselfishness and helping others are Emily's specialties.

ELLA J. SCHAAD, PH.B., S.C. Millersport, O.

Ella must have been around when they wrote the proverb, "Still waters run deep," for those who know her best tell us that beneath that quiet and retiring exterior, Ella hides a fund of knowledge, friendliness, and fun. We suspected that curly brown hair, and those twinkling brown eyes must betoken something of this sort, and we are certain that Ella has spent four profitable years at Granville, profitable for her, and for us.

WILLIS WARD SPENCER, B.S., BOII
New Straitsville, O.

Varsity Football, Manager (4); D Association; Adytum Board; Flamingo Staff (3, 4), Business Manager (4); Geological Society.

In some ways, "Bill" has the makings of a hero. He has a habit of getting jobs that require considerable work, and for which he receives little commendation. Think of the walking dates he has sacrificed for his Alma Mater—what further evidence is necessary? "Bill" will succeed, for he gets things done.

EDWARD MANNING STEADMAN, PH.B., KS
Granville, O.

Class Treasurer (2); Class Representative, Student Government (3); Class Football (1, 2), Track (1, 2); Varsity Football Squad (1, 2, 3); Track, Manager (4); Adytum Board; Y.M.C.A. Cabinet (3, 4); Student Volunteer.

Unfortunately, "Ned's" picture couldn't be put on the Olney page, where it belongs. Society needs a stabilizing force in the form of men like steady, quiet "Ned." He has "the stuff" that should carry him to real success as a missionary. He is one of those who have come up through the Academy—Granville will seem strange without him.

CHARLES E. STOAKS, PH.B., $\Phi\Delta\Theta$ Seville, O.

University of Pennsylvania (2); Class Football (2), Baseball (3, 4), Track (3, 4); Varsity Baseball Squad (4); Track (3, 4).

"Charlie" is not half as demure as one might suppose, and rumor has it that he is one of the best looking men in college. Scampering the four-forty and warbling a whiskey tenor are his major activities.

RUTH WEISENBARGER, PH.B., $\Sigma\Delta\Phi$ Granville, O.

White Nun; Class Secretary (3); Executive Board (2); President of Student Government Association (4); Student-Faculty Conference Committee (4); Adytum Board; Denisonian (1, 2, 3), Associate Editor (3); Y.W.C.A., Secretary (3), Cabinet (4); Class Delegate to Eaglesmere (2); Big Sister; Student Volunteer; Assistant in English.

Ruth has that rare combination—a sense of responsibility and a sense of humor—that go to make a big girl. As seen by her list of activities, Ruth's interests have been varied and she gives her best to everything she undertakes, whether it be presiding at our Student Government meetings, representing us at conventions, handing out bits of friendly counsel, or taking honors in a class stunt. We are proud of you, Ruth, and we are counting on your success out in the world.

VIOLET WEBB, B.S., S.C. Newfane, N. Y.

Brandon College (1); Big Sister (4); Biological Club; Assistant in Botany (3, 4).

Violet's warm, sympathetic nature and cheerful disposition have made her one of the most likable girls in the Sem., and when she leaves this year, a big spot in our hearts will be left vacant. Violet is ever faithful to her tasks, whether assisting in botany or working on Y.W. committees. Always kind and thoughtful, her friendship is sincere and lasting.

RALPH WEAVER, B.S., D.C.C. St. Louisville, O.

Botany Club (2, 3); Biological Society (4); Assistant in Biology (4).

"Buck" seems to admire the flowers principally, but we believe he admires some other things as well. He seldom speaks, but when he does it means something. "Buck" has made many friends here, all of whom wish him the best of luck in the future.

RICHARD M. TILTON, B.S., $\Sigma\chi$ Cambridge, O.

Alligator; Class Historian (4); Class Baseball (1, 2); Adytum, Business Manager; Denisonian (2), Business Manager (3, 4); Orchestra (1, 2, 3, 4); Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Engineering Society, President (4); Pan-Hellenic Council (3); Board of Control of Publications (4).

"Titter's" four years at Denison have been busy ones. He has learned that the best men are engaged—in work and pleasure. With that in mind, he became engaged, and as far as we know, he still is. He is full of pep and mixes into his business activities the funny things that are quickly grasped by his keen sense of humor.

WILLIARD BURTON STONE, B.S., BØII

Springfield, O.

Alligator; Green Friar; Varsity Football (2, 3, 4); Basketball (2, 3, 4); D Association, President (4); Board of Control of Athletics (4); Pan-Hellenic Council (3, 4).

"Red" is an exception to the rule that the owner of crimson locks possesses an equally fiery temper. His great popularity has been due to his congenial disposition and his splendid record as an athlete. We were in Springfield once, but we didn't see anybody like him. We'll leave it to him to keep Wittenberg and Denison in friendly relations hereafter.

GRACE C. WOLFE, B.S.

Granville, O.

Muskingum College (1); Biological Club; Instructor in General Science at Granville High School.

Like a few others, Grace made the mistake of not entering Denison in her Freshman year, but she corrected it before it was too late. After living in town for two years, she wisely decided to spend her last year in the Sem, and Shepardson girls have enjoyed getting a bit better acquainted with her. Grace has proved to be a helpful and sympathetic friend, and we have discovered what, no doubt, her teachers have known all along—that she is, indeed, an excellent student.

LEONA VINING WIGGINS, Ph.B., S.C. Chicago, Ill.

Crane Junior College (1, 2); Student Volunteer.

A little and quiet person can be very energetic and full of fun. Faithfully and steadily she ponders over her books—often you see her spending a vacant hour in the English Library. Leona is a friend worth having; we're sorry she has been here for only half her course, but we hope Denison has given her something to pass on when she leaves.

HAROLD MEADE WILEY, B.S., BØII

Camp Dennison, O.

Assistant Cheer Leader (3), Varsity Cheer Leader (4); D Association; Masquers; Glee Club (3, 4); Assistant in Chemistry (2, 3, 4).

Managing the "pep" of a student body, if a cheer leader's task could be so termed, is no soft job, but "Bud" tackled it with a vim, and has done a lot in bolstering up college spirit. This boy also "shakes a mean ankle," and has made good in music and dramatics. If he puts the same amount of energy into his profession as he has into his college life—well, we'll have a right to be proud of him some day.

WILLIAM KENNETH WILDMAN, B.S., BØII

Norwalk, O.

Class Track (1, 2, 3, 4), Baseball (1, 2, 3, 4), Football (1, 2); Varsity Football (3, 4), Track (2); D Association; Engineering Society.

"Ken" is built all on one plan—that of bigness, of physique, of heart, of sense of humor, and so on. And as he is big, so he is capable. Besides earning numerous A's and B's in the Math. and Physics departments, he's hauled his two-hundred-plus frame a long way, in a football suit, and held down a big place in the Big Red line. "Ken" finished strong in his college career; the final effort in his major activity resulted in sending his pin Semwards.

MARGERY ARDITH YOUNG, Ph.B., XΨΔ
Toledo, O.
Adytum Board; Y.W.C.A. Cabinet (3, 4); Big Sister (4).

Did you ever see Margery without a smile on her face and a glint of mischief in her blue eyes? If you have, it must have been in some dreamy moment when her thoughts were far away—we understand they are sometimes! Margery is winsomeness all over, and her sunny disposition has been a bright spot ever since she arrived here.

HAROLD L. WILSON, B.S., ΣAE Elyria, O.
Class Track (1, 2); Glee Club (4); Assistant in Chemistry (2, 3, 4); Chemical Society (3, 4); Geological Society (3, 4).

"Willy" is another of these Chemistry "sharks," and can generally be found in the smoke somewhere. He comes out in the open sometimes and engages in other athletic activities besides those of chasing molecules. In addition to all this, "Willy" is a cheerful and true friend.

VICTOR G. WEAVER, Ph.B., ΣAE
Bowling Green, O.
Bethany College (1); Adytum Board; Denisonian Staff (2, 3, 4); Glee Club (3, 4); Geological Society.

Although "Vic" is originally a member of the Class of '22, he will probably be back on these old stamping-grounds again next year. Last spring he left school and began selling shoes in Bowling Green, but evidently he needed more Latin, or some other useful subject, to fit him for the business, so he's here again. He's been assisting Austin in handling the sports in the Denisonian.

LETHA WINCE, Ph.B., ΔO Newark, O.
Anyone who is as fascinating a companion, as popular, who can talk French so fluently, and dance so nicely as Letha can, could not help but gain many good friends here. It's true she has scorned the life at the Sem., for her freedom of coming over on the Bus each day, but this hasn't kept her from being widely known.

MEREDITH AGNES YOUNG, B.S., XΨΔ, ΔO
Toledo, O.
Class Vice-President (1); Student Government Association, Secretary (3); Joint Student Council (3); Orchestra (1); Big Sister (4).

Meredith has done many things for Denison, which have brought her fame, and yet, as a rule, her real interests seem to be far away from here, at least it seems far, to her. She is cheerful and friendly with everyone, and has a host of close friends. Her ability shows itself in music, and in running committees.

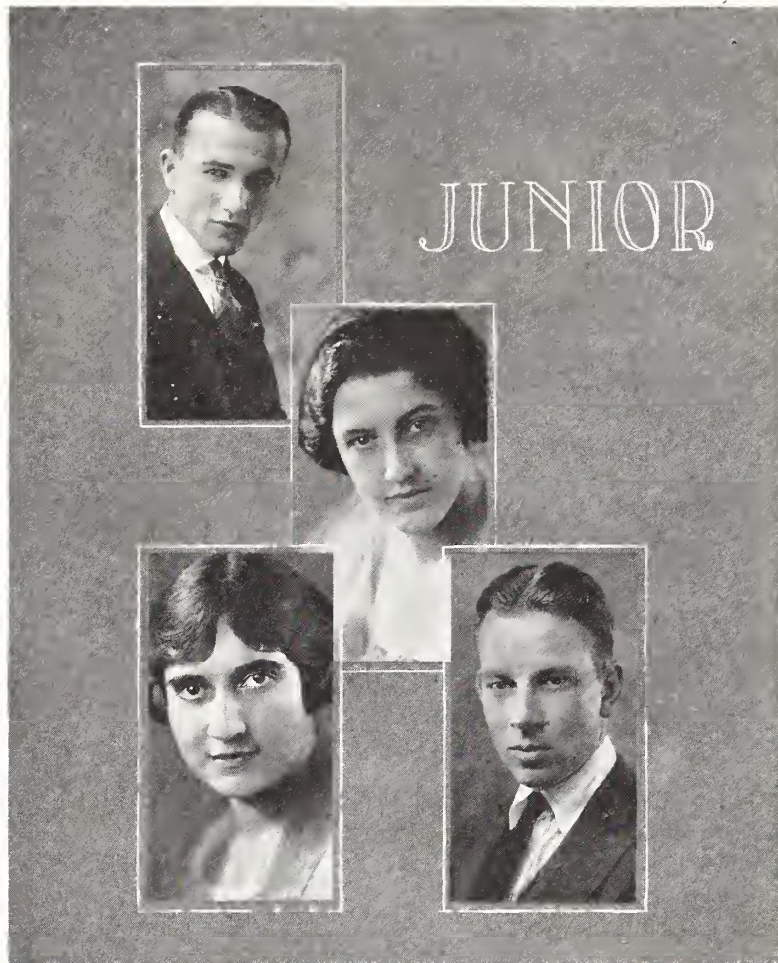

Senior Class Poem

Oh mighty college, long you've watched with Time
From you fair hill, your students grow and rise;
Your treasured gates bespeak the nation's wise,
And generations vanished into time.
What scores of students sing in endless rhyme
Your happy hours, your blessings, and your ties!
Your towers of learning that lift up to the skies
Are beck'ning heights to which your children climb.
What longing souls have come to you for light—
Each day they hear new lessons, think and feel,—
And see the opening way; and with fresh zeal
Emerge—enlightened—ready for dark night.
The past you echo and the future sway;
Oh Lord, our God—bless Denison,—we pray.

Class History

"My, isn't the Class of '23 stepping out in its old age?" Yes, you'll hear that remark every now and then, and why should anyone profess surprise at it? The classes of recent years have had alibis and explanations (they have needed them); "war classes" fitted in very well. Three college years have passed since the war, and when these Seniors leave us, its horrible traces will affect us no longer.

To the outsider, our Class may not seem unlike the others, but to us, our three years of pursuing wisdom 'neath the sacred banner of Orange and Black are filled with pleasant memories, of good times and hard tasks.

Think back into memory to the time when Granville first turned out to welcome the largest and best class she'd had a chance to meet. Call to your mind the events of those first few weeks, when we organized and bent our efforts in preparation for the first slaughter; how we accompanied the Soph President well on his way to the Raccoon; how we pulled that log to our goal, with the whole class of '22 helpless on it; how we held their football team scoreless, and then gathered to celebrate in Cleveland Hall. Then came basketball, and another stunt, at which we showed promising signs, by staging a unique party. Field Day soon came, and we showed our prowess on the track.

Soon Sophomores, we kept climbing. We lost the Scrap, to be sure, but lost like good sports. Those scraps now loom up as mere memories in a distant past, but our spirits were never dampened, we entered each new conflict with a new vigorous determination. And adversity proved our worth—we can cheer and root just as hard as we ever did. Our conquering spirits have turned to other fields as well.

Activities—too many to mention. Phi Beta Kappas, yes, more than our share. But brains are not our only asset. Our athletes are of the huskiest sort, our girls are loaded with cups and letters earned in athletics. We had no real competitors in the Posture Drive. On and on we might go, but activities are listed elsewhere in this volume. Our actions speak for themselves, and if we continue at our present rate of speed, we dare not predict what lofty heights we shall attain.

Class History

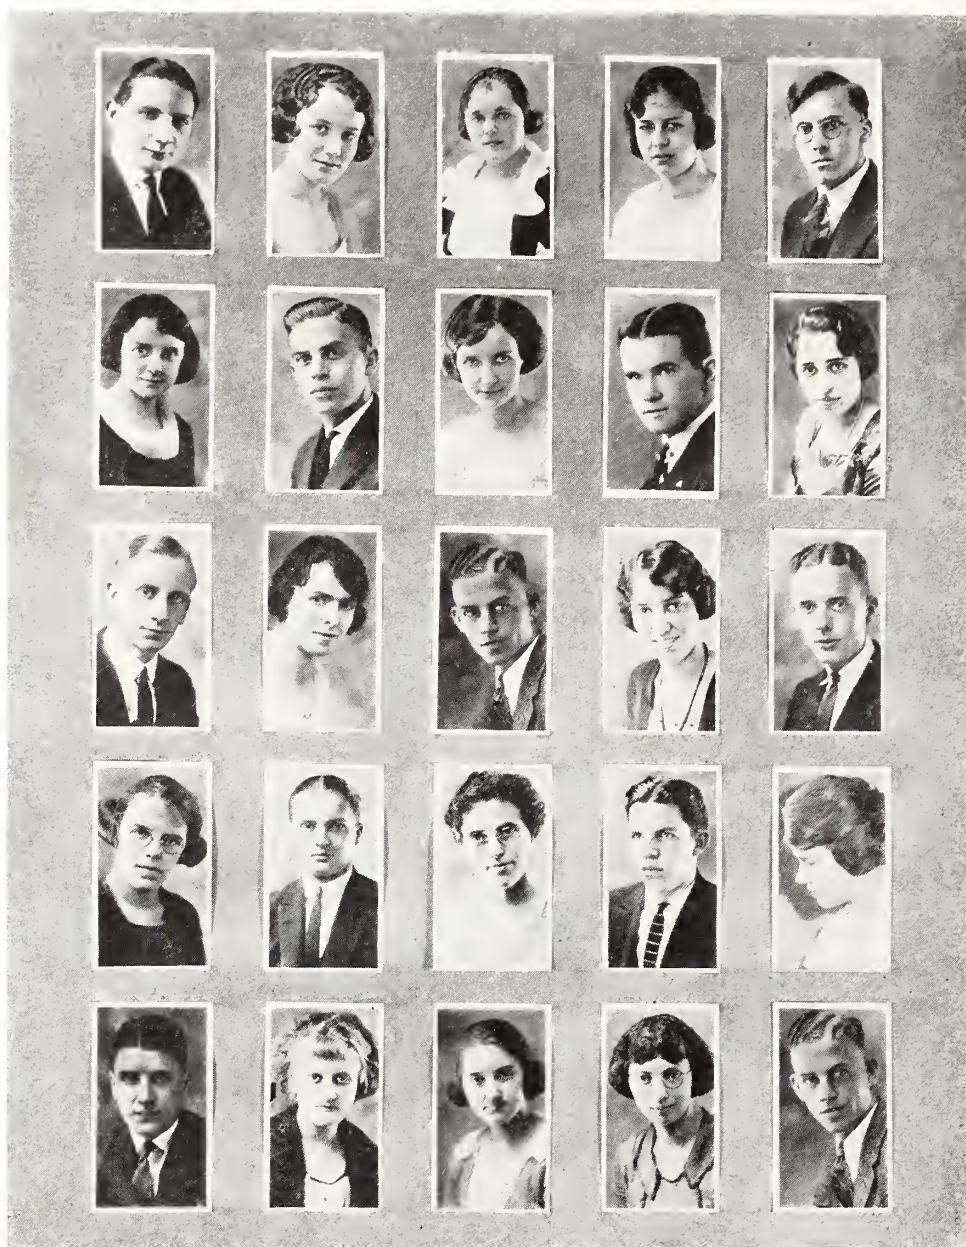

It has been said that the happiest lives furnish the least reading material, therefore you will have to bear with us only a few moments as we record the first half of that which we are wont to call our excursion through college. We cannot believe that the pleasure is all ours. We think of the privilege which others have enjoyed, in associating with such a select and happy group as is pleased to be called the Class of Nineteen-Twenty-Four. But, aside from the pleasure which we have brought to others, haven't we a right to boast that we are, and always will be, the happiest and luckiest folks ever? Can you think of a single defeat we have suffered? Where are the obstacles once in our path to success? Who has heard or ever expects to hear of those idle vaporings which were published when we made our initial appearance?

Still, when we come to think about it, there have been a few untoward incidents. How about our first appearance as dramatists on University Night, even more recently, the discovery of our worthy cheer leader entirely covered with black enamel, so thick and sticky that only by the most heroic efforts did we succeed in letting a little sunshine in? Who could ever blot from his memory the sight of the battle of the hay wagons more than a year ago: those piercing shrieks, the impact of colliding bodies, and trampling and champing of eager chargers? Why, man alive! a wooden Indian couldn't forget it.

But to get our minds off such terrible things, let us remember that in the Trophy Room there is a little silver cup bearing the numerals 1-9-2-4, while wandering over the campus there are two other classes who look downcast when you mention the word "scrap." Of course if you desire the proper effect remember not to prefix "scrap" with the word "honest" or the reaction would be different.

We cannot close without public thanks to those members of the class who cast ballots during the Posture Drive. They successfully advertised the enrollment of the Class.

Class History

Early this autumn, the country's high schools showered down upon Denison refreshing drops of joy and happiness, which taken together compose that river of blessing known as the Class of 1925. Already the rejuvenating power of those sparkling drops can be seen in the present robust health of Granville college life. There will be, doubtless, carping critics who would intimate that showers were always followed by verdant growth, and as a result of this, the Freshmen will be charged with greenness of character as well as of buttons. Verdancy, however, is only a symbol of growth, and our present condition is only an indication of future successes.

Athletics! Who can forget that football game in which the Freshmen held the Sophomores to a tie score, and who can forget the grit and determination showed by our gridgers? Basketball! Again 1925 shines. The Varsity succeeded in beating them only on scattered occasions. "Livy" has declared that this team is the best that he has had for many a year.

Our other activities are too numerous to mention. College organizations have, in general, felt the impulse of new life coming in from our Class. First of all, we are here for study, and our successes in the classrooms speak for themselves.

And most important of all, our Shepardson adherents! Who ever saw, in any class anywhere, a group of girls like those who suffer with us? This Class of '25 is well worth watching, and if it continues to maintain its high standard, it will someday spread Denison's fame around the sphere.

Athletics

Book II

WALTER J. LIVINGSTON, Coach

Walter J. Livingston was graduated from Denison in the Class of 1909, with a glowing record in college athletics of that time, behind him. Two years after his graduation, he became the director of athletics. In 1919, because of the growth in size and in importance of his department, he was made Professor of Physical Training. Since the beginning of his regime, Denison's average standing in the two major sports, football and basketball, has been above that of any other Ohio Conference College.

Denison's success in athletics has been due to one thing—to "Livy's" constant devotion to his Alma Mater. He has not trained teams primarily to win games, but he has emphasized the necessity of absolute squareness and sportsmanship. Victories have come—they have come by fair means—and today Denison holds an honorable position among Ohio colleges. Men have caught the spirit of "The College on the Hill," as interpreted by "Livy," and have fought hard and well for their school.

"Livy" is known to outsiders as a coach who turns out good teams, teams that would well represent a much larger college. To those who have known him, and who have watched him working with men, he stands as a man with an aim behind his work, emphasizing the value of those qualities of fair play, discipline, and team-work, that not only make for better sports, but contribute to the characters of real men, when college days are over.

D Association

The "D Association" was organized in 1920, admitting to its membership only those who have earned a Varsity letter. The "D Banquet", a formal dinner, given after the close of the football season, has come to be an important event of the social calendar.

The organization has taken upon itself the task of supplying caps to the Freshmen, of starting a fund for securing uniforms for the band, and of standing, in all its strength, behind the activities and traditions of the University.

HAROLD WILEY
Cheer Leader

A cheer leader has much more to do than just to lead a "Yea, Denison" and a "Team, team, ———," at a football game. That "D" with the small letters "C. L." on it, is a reward for long hours of work, spent in planning "pep meetings," whitewashing sidewalks, and doing other unpleasant jobs. It represents even more than that—it means that the wearer has borne the responsibility for keeping the spirit of the student body at a high point throughout the whole year. Nothing tries a man like adversity, and it fell to "Bud's" lot to handle the job in a year when the Big Red got a slow start. The cheer leader's job is a task for a man, he must yell when the whole bleachers are silent, and we hand it to "Bud" for the way he acquitted himself.

Sam Becker, '24, was his energetic assistant, and Ralph Smoot, '25, helped out during the football and basketball seasons.

Deeds Field

In years to come, October 1, 1921 will be remembered as an important date in Denison's history. Not only did it mark the completion of a unit in the construction of a Greater Denison, but it also marked the beginning of a period when Denison teams will have proper fields to play on and proper equipment—fields and equipment which teams of the class to which Denison teams belong need and deserve. After being in the process of construction for three years, after three Denison elevens had played what was acclaimed to be Beaver Field's last football game, Deeds Field, the gift of Colonel Edward A. Deeds, of the class of '97, was thrown open to the public. The field is still far from completion, but the gridiron was in splendid condition, and Mr. Deeds yielded to the requests of the administration and the students, and gave his consent that it be used.

Consequently, on October 1st, the largest crowd that had witnessed a football game, in Granville, gathered in the huge natural amphitheatre north of College Woods. A Homecoming parade of alumni, undergraduates, and Faculty, marched over the Hill, behind the uniformed Denison Band. A simple ceremony, consisting of short speeches by President Chamberlain and Colonel Deeds, marked the presentation of the Field to the University.

Butler College, the winners of the 1920 championship of Indiana, provided the opposition for the opener. The visitors rolled up nineteen points in the first half, through repeated use of the Minnesota shift, which the Big Red failed to solve. After a short session with Livy, the team came back with a supply of fight which kept their blue-clad opponents on the defense throughout the entire half. They were able to score but once, however, and the game ended with the count nineteen to six.

The entire athletic plant will be carried on to completion. It is expected that by next fall, additional bleachers to seat three thousand and field houses will be ready for use.

Football-1921

Honors in the Ohio Conference for the season of 1921 went to Miami. The Oxford team played a hard schedule of seven Conference games, and won each of them by a decisive score. Her goal line was crossed but twice, once by Cincinnati and again by Denison. After Miami came Oberlin, who, incidentally, defeated Ohio State early in the season, Case, Wooster, and right at the latter's heels, Denison.

Denison's record of five victories and two defeats placed her well up in the Conference. During the ten years of Livingston's regime as coach, the Big Red has never dropped more than two games in a season. In that time, her grand average has been fifty Conference games won, thirteen lost, and seven tied.

Denison rolled up ninety-six points to her opponents' seventy-eight—figures which give an idea of the evenness of the scores. After a disastrous start, the team staged a comeback, which, by sheer pep and fighting spirit, carried it through the remainder of the season successfully. In one game, Denison came from behind, to finish in the lead; in three others, it had to fight on its own goal line, to keep its opponents from tying a slender lead.

At least two Big Red players landed places on each All-Ohio team chosen; on a few, three were given places. Owen, for the third time, because of his remarkable punting, his skill at receiving passes, and his defensive work, was given an end position. R. Willis, for the second time, earned a tackle position. Calhoun's accurate passing from center, and his deadly work in backing up the line, earned for him the center position on several first teams.

On October 8, the team journeyed to Wooster for its first Conference game. Denison seemed to suffer a reversal of form, and in the last quarter, a complete collapse. Wooster held a three-point lead at the end of the half, but in the last five minutes of play, they rolled up three touchdowns, in rapid succession.

Two such defeats would have disheartened most teams, but this eleven was made of sterner stuff. On the following Saturday, Otterbein came with a carload of rooters and high hopes; they were unfortunate enough to have been the victims of the massacre the Big Red had stored up for its next rival. Denison's aerial attack worked almost perfectly, and this, in large measure, was the cause of the 49 to 0 score.

Ohio University's powerful team, with its splendid record in games with West Virginia, Syracuse, and Columbia, then came to Granville with a following of five hundred rooters. Ohio scored a touchdown early in the game, and held the lead until the final period, when two spectacular scores turned the tables. The first came as the result of a 45-yard pass, W. Willis to Owen, which moved the ball to the three-yard line; the other, when Cuckert made his memorable seventy-yard dash to the goal line.

Almost the entire student body travelled to Dayton for the Miami classic, October 30th. A customary Dayton deluge greeted the team, dampening, slightly, the spirits of the thousands of onlookers, and rendering the field slow and slippery. Miami led 7-6 at the end of the first half, and in the closing periods, due to Wolfe's line plunging and Munns' fleet end runs, added two more touchdowns.

On November 5th. Denison won the first of her three successive seven-to-nothing victories. At Delaware, the Big Red spoiled Wesleyan's biggest Homecoming before a record-breaking crowd. In the first period, Owen blocked a punt on the one-yard line, and scored. In the final period, Wesleyan made desperate efforts to tie the count, but three times they lost the ball on downs, within the 3-yard line.

The Cincinnati game duplicated, even in its details, the contest of the previous week. This time, Jefferson recovered a blocked punt, and slid up close to the goal line, and on the next play, Willis sneaked over. In the final quarter, the Bearcats placed the ball on the one-yard line, only to lose it to the fighting Big Red on downs. Two other times they were repulsed within ten yards of the goal.

The season ended at home, with Heidelberg as the visitor. Contrary to expectations, the visitors provided worthy opposition. Owen was missing from the line-up, and his presence was sorely missed when punts were called for. The spectators saw Denison hold three times on her one-yard line while Heidelberg fought vainly to score.

At the football banquet, letters were awarded to sixteen players and the manager. The graduate manager announced that R. Willis had been chosen as next year's captain. Although eight members of the 1921 squad will be lost by graduation, it is encouraging to note that six sophomores had won regular positions at the close of the past season. With good material from the yearling squad and this year's substitutes to fill the gaps, there are prospects of a powerful 1922 Big Red.

OWEN—CAPTAIN
All-Ohio End

"Yip" Owen, captain of the 1921 Big Red, and unanimous choice for all-state for the third time. They chose well when they selected him to lead the squad, for he is a born leader of men, and his presence in the game raised the spirits of the team. To punt the ball out of danger was his big duty, and well did he perform it, being rated as the premier punter of the Middle West. A demon on defense and well versed in getting his man on the offense, he gave rival coaches good reason to warn their teams, "Stop Owen." "Yip" leaves this year, but his name will hold an honored place in Denison's Hall of Fame. He has earned letters in four sports, captained teams in two, and gained a lasting reputation as a sportsman.

R. WILLIS—CAPTAIN-ELECT
All-Ohio Tackle

It was his stellar play at tackle that made "Dick" the unanimous choice for captain of next year's eleven. He pulled phenomenal plays in every game, not only watching his own side of the line, but often taking it upon himself to stop an opponent for a loss, on the other flank. He succeeded in blocking the traffic on "Smith Avenue" over at Delaware, and showed up best when men like Walker and Smith played opposite him. Here's wishing "Dick" and his followers success on the gridiron in 1922.

GUCKERT—HALFBACK

A shifty broken-field runner was "Guck", and reliable on the secondary defense. Remember that seventy-yard dash that spelled defeat for Ohio?

STONE—HALFBACK

"Red" finished up his football career at Denison, on the bench most of the season, after he sustained injuries early in the fall. When he did get in, his passing was effective.

RETTIG—GUARD

A reliable man at guard or tackle, possessing a rare fighting spirit, that spread to those playing beside him. "Bob's" going leaves a big place to fill in four major sports.

WILDMAN—FULLBACK

"Ken" threw his two hundred and some pounds into the opponent's defense for many a good gain, and held down a good job in the defensive organization.

LAWS—GUARD

Another man who tipped the scales at over two hundred, and who made his mass very effective on both offense and defense. "Fat" has contributed his last efforts to Denison football.

W. WILLIS—QUARTERBACK

"Pete", at quarter, was well placed, for he possessed a cool head, and knew how to return punts. His steady, consistent play at the pivot position steadied the entire team.

JEFFERSON—END

A rangy end, who specialized in ripping through interference and in spearing forward passes. "Jeff" has one more year to fight for Denison.

WESTON—GUARD

A very consistent player at either center or guard. "Livy" was fortunate in having two excellent centers, both accurate passers and terrors on defense.

CALHOUN—CENTER

"Enoch" lived up to the reputation he earned in the S.A.T.C. year, and found favor with several critics, who placed him at center on their all-state elevens. He played rings around every man opposite him in the line.

HUNDLEY—HALFBACK

Another Sophomore who made himself famous in football circles by his consistency in driving the ball over for what seemed an impossible gain. An ace on defense, too.

STEADMAN—GUARD

A rangy man, with a knack for getting under plays, and spoiling them before they got started. Quick at intercepting passes and driving holes in the opponents' line.

MILLER—FULLBACK

A big man and fast, who knew how to hit the line with his head down for a substantial gain; also a dependable man on defense.

McLAIN—GUARD

"Bill" had an abundance of aggressiveness, that is such a necessity for men in the center of the line. He tackled hard and low.

HENDERSON—TACKLE

"Bob" is another of the finds of the Sophomore Class. His weight and strength filled a big place on his side of the line, but in some way, he often managed to break through, and throw the runner for a loss.

SPENCER—MANAGER

"Red" cared for the team's business affairs, and made ends meet, with little trouble. Besides passing out chewing gum, and getting receipts signed, he superintended the training quarters throughout the season.

VANDERVEER AND HALTEMAN—
TRAINERS

To these men, and to their helpers, Windle, Abernethy, and M. Mead, goes the credit for keeping the Big Red in fit condition for the difficult schedule which they went through. Our hats off to them, who, not being able to play, were willing to accept a minor part, but who contributed, in a real way, to the success of those on the field!

Basketball---1921

Basketball in the Ohio Conference in the season 1920-21, was a very uncertain sport, so uncertain that sport writers and "dopesters" gave up all hope of picking winners, after the upsets of the early part of the season. In several respects, the season was more of a success for Denison than her standing might indicate. Winning eight and losing three games placed her seventh among the seventeen schools in the Conference. Denison alone defeated the Conference champions, Ohio University. The Big Red defeated each of the three teams to whom she lost in return games. For the first time, Denison won from Ohio State, on the big school's floor. With these accomplishments to her credit, Denison may be proud of her 1921 team.

Wooster opened the Conference season at Granville. The Big Red machine was slow in starting, and close guarding and Fulton's excellent shooting gave the visitors a 28-25 victory. Otterbein's five gave the Varsity little opposition on the following night. A slow and uninteresting contest, contrasting markedly the one of the night before, ended 33 to 18 in Denison's favor.

The Big Red's first game in foreign territory was played on Wesleyan's big floor. The teams were evenly matched; the lead passed back and forth from one side to the other, until the closing minutes, when Denison, by tightening her defense and calling on the best teamwork of the season, emerged slowly into the lead. The final score was 22 to 21. Two days later, the Big Red spoiled a clean Conference record by trouncing Oberlin to the tune of 53-18.

Wesleyan "came back" in her return game. Early in the game, the visitors secured a safe lead which the Varsity could not overcome. On February 16, Kenyon provided some interesting practice for the first, second, and third teams, in a meet that ended 62-19.

Then came the opportunity to clear her name of Wooster's defeat at the start of the season, and the Big Red took full advantage of it, defeating the Presbyterians on their floor, 30 to 26.

We hear of the old days when Denison used to send the Buffalo Germans back to Buffalo, beaten, but we question whether those contests gave any more thrills than did the game with Ohio University, on February 21. Denison broke a 23-23 tie fifteen seconds before the gun cracked.

In 1919, Ohio State won, by two points; in 1920, by a single marker; but the third time brought the charm, and Denison turned the tables. Feeling perfectly at home on the big floor at the Coliseum, Denison's snappy pass-work and accurate shooting baffled the Columbus men, forcing them to take the small end of a 36-32 score.

The Heidelberg game, which Denison won 29 to 26, after a hard fight, wound up the season at Granville.

Oberlin's team surprised the Big Red, showing marked improvement in her playing, and won 23 to 16. Denison won the closing game at Cincinnati, 23 to 18.

On March 18 and 19, Denison won the tournament at Cincinnati, giving her the championship of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. As tournament winners, the Denison team was awarded a silver plasque, and each player received a gold medal.

This season produced a number of strong teams, any one of which might have been worthy of a championship. The whole period was marked by reverses and surprises. An interesting fact concerning Denison's record is, that out of twelve games played, eight were won by a margin of five points, or less. Denison earned, in Conference games, 351 points, while her opponents were garnering 256.

EHRLE—GUARD
Captain

"John" led the Big Red through a hard, yet a successful season. He was a star on the defense, for he had the knack of breaking up the opponents' passwork, just when it brought the ball dangerously near to their basket. He knew when to leave his post, and always helped out with some long shots.

RETTIG—ALL-OHIO-FORWARD
Captain-Elect

"Bob" was forever on the go—now breaking into the other teams' passes, now helping out with a foul shot, and then dropping in a lightning shot from some far corner of the floor. His floor work and his ability at hitting the ring gained All-Ohio for him. Rettig was the leading scorer of the team.

BRIEM—FORWARD

When "Ted" reached his old form, he contributed a large share toward the team's success. His shooting was excellent.

STONE—ALL-OHIO-FORWARD

"Red" changed to a guard position, and soon gained a reputation as one of the fastest men in the Conference. He gave Rettig a close run in the number of field goals caged.

OWEN—FORWARD

"Yip" had the knack of getting away from the guards and caging under-basket shots. He kept fighting every minute, and often applied his knowledge of football to good advantage.

JEFFERSON—CENTER

"Jeff" was the new man on the team, but his steady defensive game, under the opponents' basket made him look like a veteran.

HAMEL—MANAGER

"Pinky's" reliability and his careful thoughtfulness won for him re-election to the basketball managership.

Track---1921

For ten years, "Livy" has carried, by himself, the burden of handling Denison's athletics. With the large increase in enrollment of the University, and the growing demand for specialized training of athletes, during that extended period, the job became too large for one man to handle. Especially in the spring, when track and baseball made conflicting demands upon his time, these sports were never given the attention they deserved.

But, with "Sid's" arrival, conditions changed. This former All-Ohio athlete took complete responsibility for Freshman athletics, and when Spring came, he was given the task of whipping the baseball men into shape. At last, the time had come when "Livy" could devote his entire efforts to the development of a track squad of the calibre of Denison's other teams. Out of what was considered a promising group of candidates, the leader of Ohio's physical trainers turned out one of the best track teams in the state. The season's results prove it.

Otterbein came first, bringing Peden, and a few less important speedsters. The Big Red tallied sixty-two counters to the visitors' fifty-five. Peden was the heavy scorer, but his scoring was not quite heavy enough.

Then Little brought his aggregation from Miami, still confident as a result of their victory last year, and quite certain, to be sure, of a similar result this time. But the Granville tracksters sent the Oxford crew back with the smaller end of a 67-50 score.

These well-earned victories did not make the Big Red over-confident, but instilled in them a determination to put Denison "on the map," on the track and in the field. Kenyon's cinder-path men ventured to Beaver Field, but were far too weak, earning only 28 of the 117 points in a dual meet.

Denison garnered further laurels in the quadrangular meet at Delaware. The Big Red athletes showed splendid form, and won the majority of firsts. Ralph Clark carried off the honors of the day by showing his spikes to King of Wesleyan in both of the dashes, besides winning the 440, and aiding much in taking first place in the relay. Wesleyan's second places made up her score, which totaled 65 points; Denison followed with 50, then came Otterbein and Heidelberg, with 37 and 7 points respectively.

A fortnight later, Denison was entered in the Big Six, at Columbus. No track team ever represented the University so ably, or earned such a high place in the final standing. Clark again starred, following close to the winner of each of the dashes, and scoring nine of Denison's nineteen points. Buder, Rettig, and Sturgeon, earned Denison's other points. Ohio State, failing to gain her required 113 points, lost a place in the standing. The others came in order, Wesleyan, Oberlin, Denison, Mt. Union, Cincinnati, etc.

At the first annual A. A. U. meet at Dayton, three Denison men entered and copped 14 points. In this meet they ran with the best material in this section of the country, but these three men put the Big Red third in the meet.

Track is a promising sport for Denison, now. When the running tracks on Deeds Field are completed, the very best equipment will be at the disposal of Denison's cinder path men, and with excellent material coming in, we look forward to great things in the future for Denison runners.

OWEN—CAPTAIN

"Yip" led Denison's cinder-path men through their most successful season. A bad muscle in his leg kept him out the latter part of the season, but he garnered needed points when he did participate. His skill in the high hurdles and the jumps would have meant a good deal to the Big Red, if he could have entered in the Big Six.

CLARK—CAPTAIN-ELECT

"Gobbie" needs no introduction to those who follow the running track. His running at Columbus and at Wesleyan won him state-wide fame. Many opponents saw his spikes as he breasted the tape at the finish of the hundred, two-hundred, or four-hundred. One of his accomplishments was setting a new time for the hundred, of nine and four-fifths seconds.

HAMEL

This long boy made his letter in track after a three-year determination to win the coveted "D." He had to run a long way to get it, but he could step the half-mile with the best of them.

CURL

One wouldn't believe that "Red" could lift those heavy muscles, but he could kick up sand at the far end of the pit for counters in every meet.

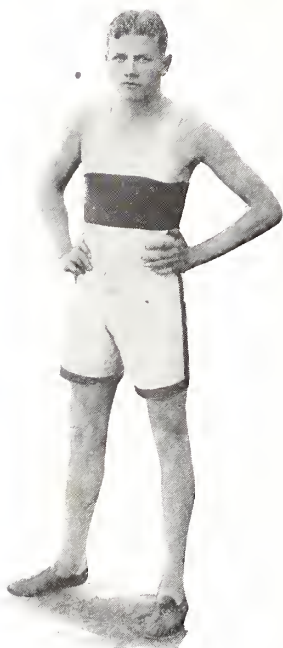

RETTIG

"Bob" brought from Middletown his ability in the field events. He could raise the shot for a counter almost any day, but his major sequence was in the javelin throw.

WILDMAN

"Ken" was another of "Livy's" biggest boys, who helped garner points by tossing the shot, and by sailing the discus and the javelin. He is now too old to high jump like he did in his younger days.

ABERNETHY

They say that training from boy-hood is necessary to attain perfect hurdle form. If that it so, "Bob" must have started at an early age. His graceful glides over the sticks are of nearly perfect form.

BUDER

"Ed" held the University indoor and outdoor records in the pole vault, and he went as big as ever in the 1921 season. He could be relied on to win his event in any dual meet—and he placed third at the Big Six. He also helped out on the low hurdles and the 220-yard dash.

DUCRO

"Duke" was the second man to admit that he liked the quarter-mile. He had plenty of stamina, so necessary in the 440, and in it he earned his "D." He was instrumental in the success of the mile relay team, as well.

MILLER

"Mike" and the big weights have a natural affinity. With nothing in his favor but strength and ability, he developed into the best weight man Denison ever had. He twirled the discus, too, for a few points.

STURGEON

This man earned his points in the high jump, and his jumps were quite high. He was classed with the best jumpers in the State, for at the Big Six, he tied for second place at five feet, nine inches.

COOPER—MANAGER

"Chuck's" job was exasperating, even more so than track managers usually find their task. In the spring of 1921, it was more like a life guard's duties, for two or three times a week, the two "Chucks" had to go down the hill and see whether the bleachers had floated down the Raccoon. But "Chuck" stuck by his responsibility, and did as much for his letter as the men in uniforms.

DONNELLY

"Don" found fascination in pole vaulting. For three years this man trained consistently, and took part in every meet, and not until his final season was his hope realized. Hats off to him, for it was true Denison spirit!

ARISE EARLY

Baseball---1921

With the addition of an extra man to the coaching staff, spring sports, this year, took on new importance in Denison's athletic program. Sidney Jenkins, after coaching the Freshman teams in the major sports, took complete charge of the baseball squad, and turned out a well-balanced nine from a mass of new material.

Rain again played havoc with practises and scheduled games. Hampered by lack of necessary floor space in the gymnasium, the team took the field with almost no infield practise. The opener with Otterbein was called on account of rain. This same rain made it necessary for the team to tackle Miami and Cincinnati with a short week's practise.

The first trip was disastrous. On April 22nd, Miami's diamond was under water, and the Oxford crew, on an improvised diamond in a meadow, defeated the Big Red, nine to one. On the next day, the University of Cincinnati, displaying its usual good form, walloped Denison, 17 to 4. The feature of this contest was Brien's home run, the longest hit ever made on Carson Field.

Next came two contests with Ohio University, one here and one there, and each time the Athens nine outplayed and defeated the Big Red. In the next game, the tide turned, and Kenyon was disposed of in short order.

The team finally seemed to have hit its full stride. Wesleyan lost the game at Delaware. The one game with Wooster that the weather allowed, went to Boles' men, after a close nine-inning scrap. A ninth-inning rally almost wiped out Akron's lead, which the visitors gained early in the game on June 3rd.

The final games made up for the rest of the season. The team showed its real strength against Ohio State. For the second time in his college days, Seibel pitched the Big Red to a victory over the Columbus lads. With the strong support of his team-mates, "Sox" allowed but six hits. Owen made his first appearance of the year on the diamond, and raised the crowd to its feet by a sensational catch in center field.

Ohio Wesleyan was forced to accept another defeat at the hands of the Big Red before a crowd of Commencement visitors, on June 11th. Although, at the end of the season, the balance was on the debit side of the books, the victories over Wesleyan and Ohio State stand out as an indication of the success of Denison's 1921 baseball team.

SIDNEY JENKINS—COACH

"Sid" came back a veteran of last year's team and coached the squad in commendable style. At the start, he was handicapped by a wet field and a lack of sufficient indoor space, but by mid-season he produced a team that had no difficulty in disposing of Ohio State and Wesleyan. "Sid" was popular with his men, and his absence will be sorely felt when the next call for baseball is sent out.

SEIBEL—PITCHER
Captain

"Socks" was the backbone of the team. Besides being a first-string pitcher, he led the squad in their batting. The Ohio State victory was due largely to his air-tight work on the mound and his consistent slugging. His was the unique experience of pitching the Big Red to victory over O. S. U. twice in his college career.

GUCKER—INFIELDER
Captain-Elect

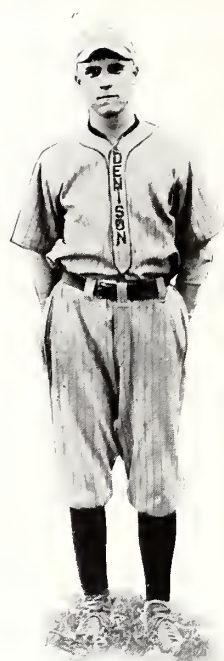

Without a doubt, "Guck" is the best first baseman in the Conference. He put on a continuous side show around the initial sack. With his pep and knowledge of the game, he will lead the Big Red in what is bound to be a good season.

CURL—CATCHER

The pluckiest of backstops. He gets them all.

PFANNER—INFIELDER

The fiend of the nine for base hits and broken bats.

RETTIG—INFIELDER

Good anywhere—a roving short-stop and a sure base-stealer.

BRIEN—INFIELDER

A sure shot on ground balls. Ask someone from Cincinnati if he can hit the ball.

MILLER—OUTFIELDER

A sure fielder and a heavy hitter. General of the sun garden and slugger a la Babe Ruth.

CHANDLER—PITCHER-OUTFIELDER

A comer for the mound. Dead on flies, with a good long "peg" in.

JENKINS—OUTFIELDER

"Bill" worked under difficulties—his brother coached. He was noted for scratch hits and freak catches.

DEEDS—MANAGER

"Chuck" was an optimistic manager, never grumbling about wet grounds or dollar meals.

The Squad

BACK ROW—Deeds, Manager; Laws, Miller, Jenkins, Coach.
MIDDLE ROW—Guckert, Brien, Owen, Rettig.

THE 1972 ADVERTORIAL

Tennis---1921

With an entirely new team, and with only one man who had ever taken part in a Varsity match before, the 1921 tennis season was not exactly a success. The Big Red lost to such teams as Otterbein, Kenyon, Ohio State, and Capitol, but it is interesting to note that these teams ranked highest in the State, and in none of these matches was Denison badly beaten. In the return match with Otterbein, the Big Red was cheated out of a victory when a heavy rain cut short the engagement. Heidelberg was met late in the season and was given a sound drubbing on the University courts.

The team was well balanced and improved with every match. It was handicapped throughout the year by the lack of courts for practice use, and by the lack of an indoor court on which to play in bad weather. The best playing was directed against the strongest opposition; the men put up the best game against Ohio State, top-notchers of the Western Conference wielders.

The prospects of the coming year are indeed bright, as the old team remains intact, with three veterans, and with much good court material coming in with the Class of '24. Added to this pleasant outlook is the encouraging fact that the best players of last year's Ohio college vintage have all graduated. Good tennis material is always plentiful at Denison, and with the proper facilities for practicing, the Big Red tennis team should be one of the best in Ohio.

CAULKINS

"Caulk" was one of those indomitable players who is able to always keep pace with his opponent. He was blest with a particularly vicious serve and a fast forehand drive.

HAYES

Harry leaped to fame in the match with Heidelberg when he defeated Smith, reputed to be one of the best players in Ohio, in a fast three-set encounter. His playing on this occasion was little short of perfect and his service was accurate as well as sensational.

CRONEIS

Croneis was playing manager of the team. Paired with Caulkins, a doubles team was formed which was hard to beat. With a fast and accurate twist service and a fast drive at net, "Shrimp" was also a dangerous man in singles, as well as an efficient manager.

Intra-Mural Sports

BASKETBALL

Inter-fraternity basketball commanded unprecedented interest during the 1920-21 season. After repeated upsets, and unexpected and unexplainable victories and losses, the Kappa Sigs stepped forth with the claim for honors.

For the first time, Doane Academy walked off with the Inter-class championship. Rupp's small, but fast quintet seemed to find little trouble in disposing of each of the class teams.

TRACK

Cleveland Hall may be small, but it failed to interfere with the high spirits displayed in the indoor meets. With points to spare, the Phi Delts copped the honors. The little gym was packed, with enthusiastic spectators lining the walls, and two or three events being run off simultaneously.

Late in the season came the indoor clash of the classes. With a clean string of victories up to this time, the Class of '23 added another to its credit.

The dope sheet again turned out to be a mere "scrap of paper." In the annual outdoor meet, the Phi Delts tallied several more counters than any other group, and became the undisputed champs on the cinder path.

The leading athletic event of the year, the annual Field Day, came on May 19. Increasing interest in track as a spring sport was evidenced by the keen inter-class competition, and the marks set. That day saw three records smashed; Stupp dashed the hundred in a beautiful 9 4-5 seconds, Miller heaved the shot a record distance, 39 feet, 7½ inches, and Clark tore off a 220-dash in 22 4-5, lowering the previous record by two-fifths of a second. The result of the meet was undecided until the last stretch of the relay, when, a few feet from the stake, Clark passed a Sophomore, and won the day for the Juniors by a scant half point. Buder, Clark, and Miller were the winners of the gold, silver, and bronze medals.

BASEBALL

Weather conditions seriously hampered playing off the intra-mural baseball schedules. The Sig Alphas met all opponents and came out with the best record. In the final inter-class game of the season, the Seniors took over the Juniors, giving the Class of '21 baseball laurels.

TENNIS

Hayes and Caulkins represented the Commons Club, as well as the University, on the courts, and they took on all-comers, winning the Inter-Fraternity tourney without a defeat.

WOMEN'S

MISS RUTH ATWELL
Director of Physical Education

No department of the University has experienced more definite and satisfactory advancement in the past few years than the Shepardson Department of Physical Education—and this is due, in large proportion, to the efficient, attractive, and capable work of Miss Atwell. Her ever-increasing supply of plans and projects, her optimism, and her strict fairness have won for her a place of high esteem in the heart of each girl,—and to her we owe much of our college enjoyment of athletics, and our undenied profit in gym courses. Too much praise cannot be sung of the dance drama, "The Opening Door," which she conducted last spring. Whether it be in directing carnivals, in demonstrating the "Ronde de Jambé," or in supervising Field Days, Miss Atwell is always magnetic in her personality, always helpful in her teaching and suggestions.

The fast-expanding department of Shepardson athletics made necessary, this year, additions to the forces for instruction and coaching, and welcomed Miss Cathcart, one of Shepardsons recently graduated alumnae, and a graduate student of Smith College, as a director. Sharing equally the classes and responsibilities incumbent on physical directors, Miss Atwell and Miss Cathcart have effected a better, more inclusive department.

Miss Cathcart's personality, dominant with positive altruism and a fine ability to advise and help, together with her broad knowledge of the work and efficiency as a teacher, has been a potent factor in the success of the Department, and hers is the gratitude and the admiration of those privileged to work under her.

Since it was enrolled in the Women's Athletic Association, the Shepardson Association has been characterized by greater interest, and is more inclusive and effective than ever before. The new point system admits to its membership only those girls who have earned at least one hundred points, which may be acquired as follows:

Regular on a class team.....	100
Substitute	25
Hiking—5 ten-mile or 10 five-mile.....	75
All-Shepardson team	25
Swimming championship	25
Tennis championship (Spring).....	100
Runner-up in spring tennis.....	50
Archery championship	50
Dancing group	100
First honors in apparatus work or in Freshman tests.....	100
Second honors	50

Growing interest in girls' athletics is shown by the increasing number of sports, the addition of another instructor to the department, additional student assistants, and in the number of pages in this book devoted to Shepardson athletics.

Swimming

MARJORIE STANTON, Champion

Interest in swimming was evidenced by the number of contestants in the tryouts, and by the close race for the championship. The events in the contest included the breast-stroke, side stroke, Australian crawl, swimming on the back, floating, treading, sculling, life-saving, diving, and plunging for distance.

The Class of 1924 not only won the class championship, but supplied the individual champion. Accuracy in form, as well as speed, won for "Marj" the first place. Harriette McCann, the other All-Shepardson swimmer, instructed the classes in swimming.

CLASS TEAMS

- 1921—Caroline Easley, Lois Teeter
- 1922—Harriette McCann, Marian Simpson
- 1923—Marguerite Tribolet, Minerva Olney
- 1924—Marjorie Stanton, Margaret Barber

ANNETTA ELDRIDGE, Champion

If the interest in tennis can increase so noticeably with the one additional court, what will it be in greater Denison? 1922 was the victorious class, and All-Shepardson claimed Annetta and Gladys.

Annetta displayed the most consistent and steady playing and rightly deserved the championship. We will miss her by-word, "O, Annetta," on the court.

Those who ever saw Gladys play will not soon forget her individual service and spectacular net playing.

CLASS TEAMS

- 1921—Annetta Eldridge, Dorothy Funk
- 1922—Lois Jones, Marian Simpson, Marguerite Schulte
- 1923—Gladys Jones, Marguerite Tribolet
- 1924—Frances Chamberlin, Helen Hardesty

FRONT ROW—Dorothy McCutcheon, Helen Yeakel, Helen Dickinson.

Basketball, the most popular winter sport, was given a boost this year by the large number of girls who went out for it, and by the keen competition between classes. In a very exciting final game, the Class of 1924 won the banner and the Stuart Cup from 1923.

The All-Shepardson line-up was:

Right guard	-	-	-	-	-	Helen Dickinson
Left guard	-	-	-	-	-	Dorothy Daub
Right forward	-	-	-	-	-	Ireta Goodrich
Left forward	-	-	-	-	-	Harriet Dobson
Center	-	-	-	-	-	Helen Yeakel
Running center	-	-	-	-	-	Dorothy McCutcheon

FRONT ROW—Opal Calhoun, Dorothy McCutcheon, Caroline Easley, Helen Robinson, Lois Teeter.

Baseball is a sport always enjoyed by both women and men. The increase in enthusiasm and in the field of competitors has been marked in the last two years, and the incoming Freshman class always brings good material.

The Class of 1923 won the championship, and contributed three players to the All-Shepardson, which was made up as follows:

Ruth Hendricks
Helen Robinson
Dorothy McCutcheon

Helen Yeakel
Opal Calhoun
Edna Shipley

Lois Teeter
Caroline Easley
Marjorie Sutherland

Hockey

Florence Ladd, Ona Grunder, Maude Gill, Mildred McCalla, Lois Lusk, Thelma Mazey, Marjorie Cockrum, Anne Rodgers, Thelma Eastman, Harriet Dobson.

The sport in which the greatest number of girls participated was hockey. A number of good teams have been turned out. The improvement in the technique of the playing and in team work has been marked. Enthusiasm ran high at the class game in the fall, and after a good fight, 1923 came out the victor.

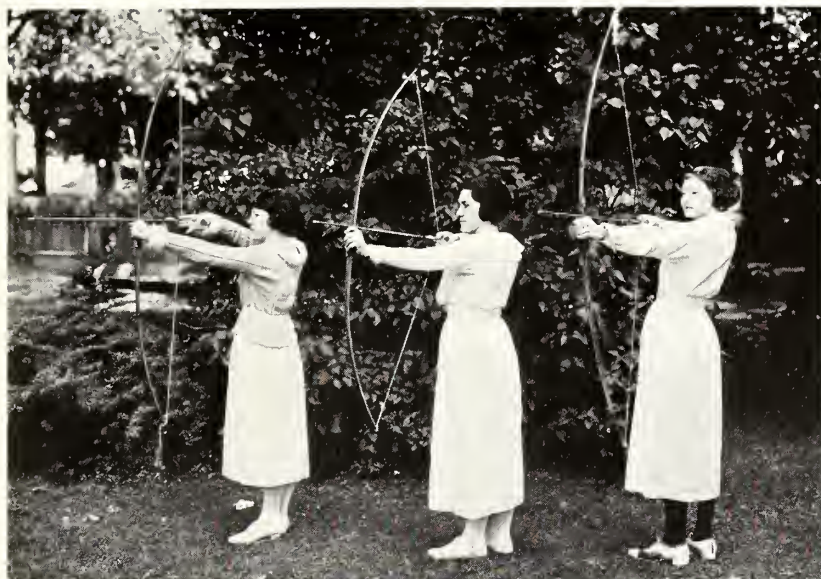

These girls made All-Shepardson:

Maude Gill
Thelma Mazey
Ona Grunder

Harriet Dobson
Lois Lusk
Mildred McCalla
Muriel Myrick

Anne Rodgers
Marjorie Cockrum
Winifred Webb

Archery

Geraldine Crow, Ruth Hovey, Mary Prechtol

Although this was its initial year in Shepardson athletics, its welcome was assumed. There is no more fascinating sport than archery, and on Field Day, it is perhaps the biggest attraction.

The easy manner in which Ruth carried the arrow straight to the gold spot was the noticeable feature of her shooting. She will probably have three more years on All-Shepardson.

The winning class was 1924. Ruth Hovey was the champion, and she, Geraldine Crow, and Mary Prechtol, made up the All-Shepardson.

Class teams:

1923—Minerva Olney, Margaret Hanna, Edith May, Eva Tomlison

1924—Ruth Hovey, Mary Prechtol, Geraldine Crow, Josephine Stratman

D. U. Association

MIDDLE ROW—Harriette McCann, Opal Calhoun, Marguerite Tribolet, FRONT ROW—Marguerite Schulte, Harriet Dobson, Josephine Darrow, Evelyn Cathcart.

The "D. U. Association", organized in the fall of 1921, is made up of those girls, who, upon recognition of the Athletic Board, have been awarded the "D. U." for earning five hundred points in athletics. Its purpose is to support and to promote interest in the Department of Physical Education.

In the spring, a Sportsmanship Cup is presented by the Association to the class receiving, during the year, the highest number of points, based on:

- Spirit shown by the classes in turning out for teams.
- Observance of training rules.
- Spirit shown by winning and losing teams.
- Support by the classes, of their teams.
- Winning of the posture drive.

The government of the students of Shepardson College in matters relating to their interests and relationships as students, is vested in the Student Association. The members of this organization, which includes all the resident students of Shepardson, elect representatives to serve as an Executive Board, which manages the house, street, and dining-hall government for the girls. The Big Sister Movement and the Fall Campaign are also under the supervision of this body.

At the beginning of this year, the Association was accepted as a member of the Intercollegiate Association for Women's Student Government. Its constitution and rules have been revised to meet the present needs of the Shepardson Association.

Granville Debate Teams

In the spring of 1921, the men's debate teams again brought honor to their Alma Mater. The proposition under discussion was, "Resolved: That all the coal mines of the United States should be owned and operated by the Federal Government, (Question of transportation waived, and constitutionality granted)." There was one triangular debate, with Capitol and Marietta, on March 31, one with Ohio University and Wooster, on March 17, and a dual debate with Mt. Union, April 15. The lone defeat of the season came in the first debate, when Denison's affirmative team lost to Wooster.

The Debate Squad is chosen after competitive tryouts, held shortly before the Christmas vacation. From it, are selected the members of the teams, and the alternates. Professor Bunyan Spencer has been in charge of Denison forensics for years. Under the new Charter, granted to the Granville Student Government, debate and oratory come under the jurisdiction of a Board of Control, of which D. S. Matthews and L. H. Mayes are the student members.

The question for this year's debates is, "Resolved: That the application of the principles of the closed shop would be for the best interests of the American people." Three triangles were arranged: Ohio University and Wittenberg, Capitol and Marietta, and Mt. Union and Muskingum.

Shepardson Debate Council

King Peterson Goodrich
Barbour Prof. Spencer Mrs. Brumback

The Shepardson Oratorical and Debating Society was organized last spring, after being silent for several years, for the purpose of promoting interest in oratory and debate among the women of Shepardson. Arrangements have been made for a triangular debate this spring. The interest and enthusiasm shown by the members of the society and the teams promise a successful future for the new organization.

The members of the Shepardson Debate Squad are: Morna Adams, Elizabeth Barbour, Loraine Caul, Margaret Comisky, Geneva Ellison, Helen Freednour, Gracil Green, Louise Peterson, Frances Priest, Vera Rice, Melvina Summers, and Dorothy Worthington.

The Masquers Club

The Masquers aim to encourage the study and appreciation of dramatics. In order to accomplish this purpose, the Club presents three plays a year, and brings well-known speakers to Granville.

Membership in the Masquers is open to all men and women in the University, selected after competitive tryouts, held early in January. These are chosen by a committee composed of the Club officers and Professor Johnston. An evidence of the interest taken in the organization is the fact that some one hundred and twenty candidates appeared before the Committee this year.

The program this year includes three plays. In December, they produced Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," and in March, "The Witching Hour," by Augusta Thomas. A cast is now preparing for a Shakespearean drama, to be offered during the Commencement week.

The standard of the Masquers has been raised in the last few years. New scenery has been secured, making possible better performances. The plays given have been of a high grade, and with a versatile membership to choose from, and Professor Johnston's coaching, they have presented much more finished productions.

TO DENISON

To Denison, we raise our song,
Fair college on the hill,
The name that sets our souls on fire,
And makes our senses thrill;
To Denison, our Denison,
In praise our voices swell,
The scene of happy college days,
The home we love so well.

O morning glow which gilds the east,
O sun which shines at noon,
O stars which bloom at eventide,
O radiant, glowing moon,
Look from the pathless azure dome,
Shed blessings from above,
On college halls and college walls,
The Denison we love.

And when the shadows softly fall
O'er hills and valleys dear,
Across the college campus rings
The melody so clear;
The circling hills throw back again
The glad inspiring song,
And in our hearts to Denison
Our praises we prolong.

When from the fold we far shall stray,
With souls no longer young,
We'll ne'er forget our college days,
These happy scenes among;
And when our steps have feeble grown,
Our journey almost done,
E'en then with fleeting breath we'll praise
Our dear old Denison.
V. E. FIELD, '03.

OLD VARSITY

Verse:

Oh Varsity, the victory depends on you today,
Our hope is on old Denison
And we will back you till the day is done.

Chorus:

Oh Varsity, we'll back you in the fray
Until the victory is won.
There's no defeat boys—;
We can't be beat boys—
So raise a cheer for Denison, Rah! Rah!
Your Alma Mater's honor rests on you,
Get in and fight for old D. U.
Yes fight, fight, fight
With all your main and might,
Old Varsity of Denison.
—Words and Music by
R. W. ABERNETHY, '22.

GRANVILLE

'Way down among old Licking's hills,
There is a place my memory fills,
And my heart with rapture always thrills,
When I think of Denison.

Granville, I love thee,
Valley and hill,
Fondly my memory
Clings to thee still.
Granville, I love thee,
Present and past,
While time endures this love
For thee shall last.

Wherever I may make my home,
However far from her I roam,
Thoughts of dear old Granville oft will come
To a son of Denison.

Granville, I love thee,
Thy skies so bright
Bring back as years pass by Naught but delight.
Granville, I love thee,
Till time is done.
Hail! Alma Mater, hail!
Old Denison.
F. W. SHEPARDSON, '82.

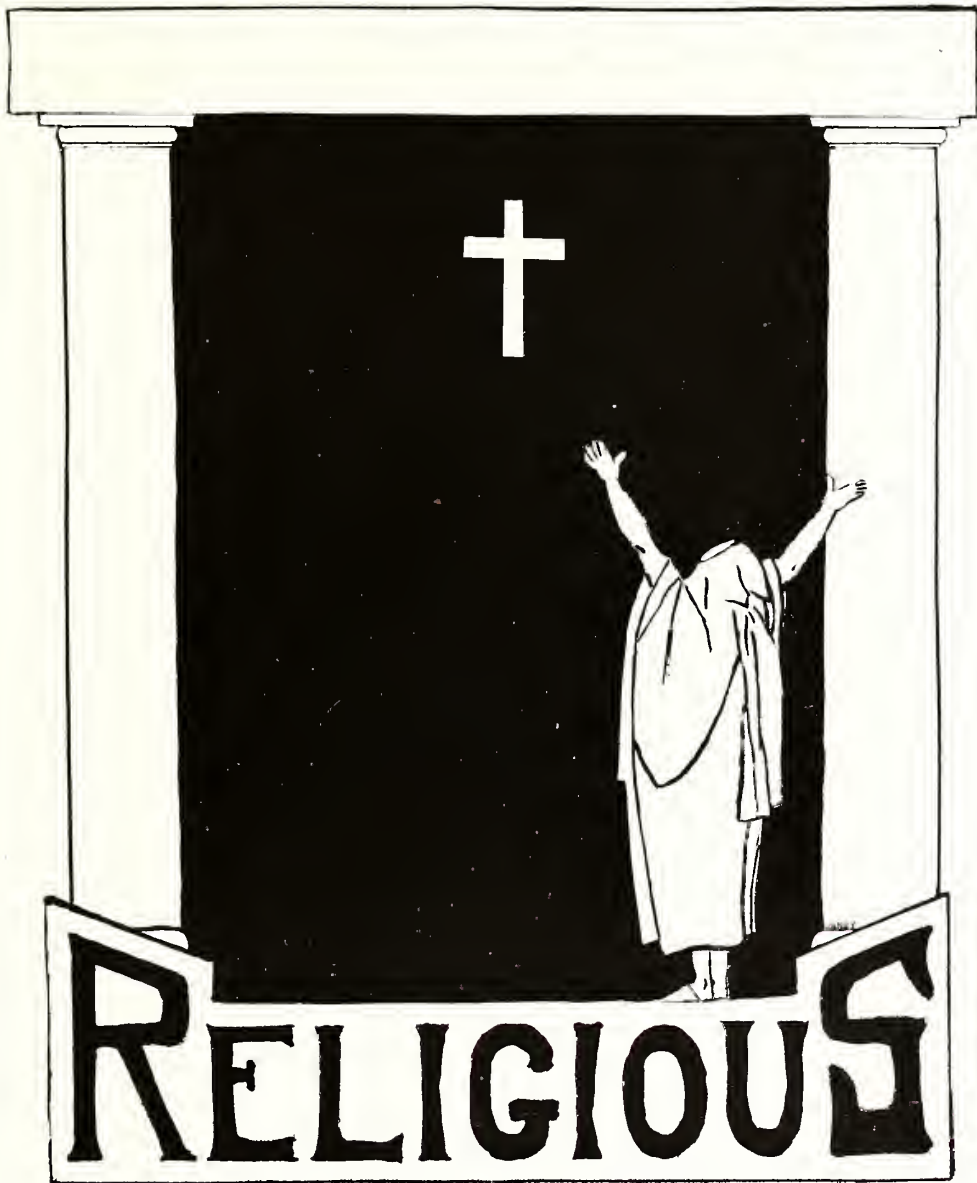

MARCHING SONG

Yea! march! march! march on down the field
Until the victory's won.
Our valiant men are always loyal,
And we will always sing to Denison.
Our hearts, our souls, with on accord,
Will back you in the fray;
And we will sing to old Denison,
And we will win the day.

Chorus:

So let us cheer, cheer, cheer for Denison,
And then our spirit we will show,
For everyone will cheer to help our men
Go crashing through the foe.
Come, let us fight, fight, with all our might;
Hurrah for the Red and White.
Cheer, cheer, for old D. U.:
Three cheers for old Denison.

O! Denison, our Denison,
To her we'll all be true.
To her we'll sing our praises loyal
And everyone will fight for old D. U.
O! come, come, come, we've got to win,
"Oh! come and sing to old Denison,
Then everyone can say!
For we have won the day".

The absence of a full-time secretary and the unfavorable financial conditions have combined to make this a testing year for the Men's Christian Association. At the Fall Retreat of the Cabinet, the administration dedicated itself to the task of carrying an amplified program with a smaller budget. While the missionary items were increased, the appropriations for local work were reduced from the eleven hundred dollars of the last year to five hundred and seventy-five dollars, which, with the elimination of a secretary's salary, made a total saving of eight hundred dollars. After a rather inauspicious beginning, the finance drive was carried to successful completion.

Student attendance at the Sunday evening meetings, and in the Student Sunday School, has been increasingly loyal. The splendid program which the Social Service Committee arranged for the local High School boys has won the gratitude of the entire community. Perhaps the most successful innovation of this administration is the "Y" Bookstore, which starting with a stock of one hundred and fifty dollars in religious books, has had a two hundred per cent turnover.

The climax of the year's work was reached, when, on ground well prepared, the great world student leader, Sherwood Eddy, and his wife, came to conduct services for the Week of Prayer, in February. His burning challenge brought the same response that, in other years, has sent Denison men out into every land and station of life, to labor for the establishment of the Kingdom of God on earth.

With Helen Cheney as president, the Young Women's Christian Association has enjoyed a very successful year. The watchword adopted by the Cabinet was "Trust". The general aim this year has been to broaden the scope of the Association's work by linking up with the National and International organizations. The Cabinet has tried to keep the girls constantly in touch with world problems, in order that they may better fit themselves for service.

The Undergraduate Representative, a new officer added to the Cabinet, has helped greatly in broadening the field of work. It is her duty to keep in touch with the National Association through correspondence and through district conventions of the Field Representatives.

The membership campaign, conducted early in the fall, resulted in the addition of ninety-four new members. Through the work of the Finance Committee, the budget of $1,375 was oversubscribed.

Delegates have gone to the Student Conference at Eaglesmere, to the Industrial Conference at Oxford, and to the National Convention.

The program for the year has included Americanization and industrial work among the foreigners in Newark. The Y. W. C. A. has provided half of the financial support for Dan Dye, Denison's missionary in China.

Sixty students, now in Denison, have come to the decision that, God willing, they should spend their lives in service in foreign missions, and have accepted as their goal, "The Evangelization of the World in this Generation". This group has meetings weekly, and the time is spent profitably in practical preparation, by reading and studying, and in seeking inspiration for the task ahead, the task that holds the important place in a Volunteer's future.

The Ministerial Association is made up of some students who are expecting to enter the ministry, either at home or abroad. Some of its members have regular pastorates throughout the year; others prepare themselves for better service by supplying at churches in this part of Ohio. The Y. M. C. A. Gospel Teams, which go out in vacations and on week-ends, have representatives from this group. Professor Bunyan Spencer, by his interest and influence, has been a power for its success.

Professor Karl H. Eschman is largely responsible for the unusual success the Men's Glee Club has met during its past season. The program has been well balanced, including several glees or ensemble numbers, solos, comedy sketches, a number of Denison songs, a fraternity medley, and some instrumental music, a string quartet, and a banjo and mandolin quartet.

Short trips at week-ends have taken the Club to Ohio cities. On the Spring Vacation trip, concerts were given in ten cities. The home concert was given in the Baptist Church on the Friday evening before Mothers' Day.

Under Mrs. Fitch's able direction, the Girls' Glee Club has achieved success in another season. Twenty-eight girls were selected, after competitive tryouts, held at the beginning of the year. The program for the year has consisted of several trips, and a very successful home concert. A great deal of time was spent on a cantata, made up of group numbers.

The Band

Under the direction of Professor Karl Eschman and Miles Levering, the Band developed into the best corps of musicians that ever played "Hail, hail, the gang's all here" in Granville. They deserve a place of honor up with the players and the cheer leader. Thanks to the generosity of the Athletic Association, the Band made trips last fall to Delaware and to Dayton, and although they weren't dressed up in fancy uniforms, they were there to furnish the music, and that they did. The "D" Association has established a fund, which is constantly increasing, with the aim of securing uniforms for the Band.

The Denison Commons Club was organized in 1917, filling a need long felt, that of providing a home, with opportunities for social life for those not reached by the national fraternities. Each year, the Club has grown in strength and in influence. After the fire, which partially destroyed Marsh Hall, that building was rebuilt into a spacious dormitory, with dining and clubrooms, which some one hundred and twenty-five men now call their Granville home.

The Denison Club was responsible for calling together, last spring, delegates from other similar organizations, and a National Association was formed, with Dr. K. S. Latour-ette as its first president.

Denison Scientific Association

President	-	-	-	-	-	W. A. EVERHART, A.B.
Vice-President	-	-	-	-	-	PAUL BIEFELD, PH.D.
Recording Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	D. M. MOORE, B.S.
Permanent Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	KIRTLEY F. MATHER, PH.D.
Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	FORBES B. WILEY, PH.D.

The Scientific Association is a composite group; included in its membership are all those who belong to one of the departmental societies. Two Tuesday evenings each month, the different societies meet in their own departments, and have programs of particular interest to their own groups. On the alternate weeks, the entire Association meets together, and subjects of wider importance are presented by capable speakers.

The Bulletin of the Denison Scientific Laboratories is the official publication of the Association. In this are recorded the results of research work carried on by students and members of the Faculty.

These societies have come to fill an important place in the extra-curriculum activities of the University. Students are encouraged to do some original thinking and research, and subjects of interest and real usefulness are presented under much different conditions than those found in the class rooms and laboratories.

Secretary and Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	-	VIOLET WEBB

The Biology Club is composed of students and Faculty of the Botany and Zoology departments. There are twenty-two members in all. The meetings are taken up with reviews of important biological subjects. A great deal is done in this way to further student interest in this work, as it gives a knowledge of subjects not covered in class work.

Chemical Society

Vice-President	-	-	-	-	-	-	RUTH TWINING
Secretary and Treasurer	-	-	-	-	-	-	MILES W. LEVERING

The Society started off with a bang this year. The meetings have been much better attended than ever before and general interest seems to be keener. The regular meetings have been in charge of various members of the society, each of whom have presented an interesting paper upon some modern chemical problem. These meetings are especially beneficial to those majoring in Chemistry, as they steer the student away from slavish text-book learning and give a view of commercial applications.

The spirit of Cosmopolitanism is found in the words of the Scripture, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself". The Cosmopolitan Clubs have translated this meaning into what is our motto, "Above all Nations is Humanity." The Denison Cosmopolitan Club, as a Chapter of the National Organization, is doing its best to help the cause of a true and perpetual brotherhood of mankind. We believe that college friendships among the representatives of the fourteen nationalities gathered in our Club, is one of the best and most easy ways to accomplish our purpose.

The kind hospitality of several Granville homes has made it possible for us to have our monthly meetings in a very enjoyable and successful way. Membership to the Denison Cosmopolitan Club is open to all "Citizens of the World" interested in our cause.

Doane Football---1921

The football team that represented Doane on the gridiron during the season of 1921 has been rated as one of the best squads that has played for "Old Doane" in the past few years. It was Mr. Rupp's third year as coach of the "Little Reds", and much credit is due him for his consistent and efficient work. He has done a great deal in these three years to raise the athletic standard in Doane, and is now considered one of the best coaches of secondary schools in the State.

Only five of last year's letter men were back to report for practice when the first call was given. But it was not long before a smile of satisfaction could be seen on Coach Rupp's face as he worked with the men each afternoon. Every man was fighting for a place on the first team. The line looked especially good, and the backfield consisted of men who were good at open field running, and also at hitting the line.

With but very little defensive practice, Doane met the strong and heavy North High team from Columbus at Granville on October 1st. It was their first chance to prove their worth, and they did. Doane outplayed North in every stage of the game, defeating them 20 to 12. This was a victory to be proud of, because this team later became the city champions of Columbus.

The following week the "Little Reds" invaded Columbus, and scored another victory. The heavy East High team could not penetrate the forward wall of the Doane defense, and many times their backfield men were stopped behind their own line, and were thrown for a loss. The score was 14-0.

On October 15th, Doane had little difficulty in defeating the State School for the Deaf 28-0. Rupp's men had the ball in their possession most of the time, and their goal was never in danger.

The next week Doane motored to Coshocton. Within five minutes the home team had scored a touchdown. It seemed impossible to stop their march down the field. However, no more scoring was done during the rest of the first half. A talk from Coach Rupp between halves seemed to stimulate that "old fight" in the team, and they marched back on to the field determined to win. Each man said, "We can," and he did. The final score was 20 to 7 in favor of Doane.

London High was all ready to do what no other team, so far, had been able to do. They were going to spoil the clean record of the "Little Reds," but disappointment was in store for them, for they didn't even score,—while Doane succeeded in crossing their goal line three times. The victory was a costly one, for Fullback Shifflette was taken out of the game on account of a broken collar bone, and Halfback Imhoff sustained a sprained shoulder. Earlier in the season, Moss, another halfback, had left school, so the team was weakened considerably.

On November 11th, Doane played Rio Grande College on their Homecoming Day. On a muddy field, and weakened by injuries, but fighting to the last, the "Little Reds" met their first defeat. Two old backfield men were unable to play, and in trying to fill their places from the line, it, too, was weakened. Doane was within scoring distance several times, but was unable to cross the line, while Rio Grande scored two touchdowns and one field goal.

Again Doane was to be disappointed, this time at the hands of the strong and fast Athens High team, which won 18-7. Within five minutes after the whistle had blown, Doane, on straight bucks through the center of the line, had scored a touchdown. It wasn't only impossible for them to score again, but they could not hold the Athens backfield men, and before the last whistle had blown, Doane's goal line had been crossed three times. The field was terribly wet and muddy, and several fumbles were very costly to the "Little Reds".

At the annual banquet "Tom" Hamilton was elected to lead the 1922 team. Besides receiving the D.A., each letter man was presented with a gold football from the Athletic Association, which was made possible by the efforts of the Adelphian Literary Society.

Doane Basket Ball---1920-1921

For the first time in history, Doane succeeded in capturing the Inter-class Championship. However, it was not done without a fight, for the Class of 1923 and the "Little Reds" had each lost one game. But in the final contest Coach Rupp's quintet came out victorious.

In the Western Reserve Tournament in Cleveland, Doane also showed up well, losing the championship to Loyola High of Cleveland by only one point.

Doane had opened her season in Granville by defeating Urbana High 12 to 10. It was a close game throughout, as the score would indicate, and if it had not been for Haskins, who caged seven baskets, Doane would have come out on the small end of the score.

On January 21st, the "Little Reds" traveled to Coshocton and played in a gymnasium that had once been a swimming pool. Not being used to such a floor, they were greatly handicapped. The score was 23-20.

On February 4th, Waite High of Toledo came to Granville and for the third time within two years were handed a defeat at the hands of the Doane men. Hla succeeded in finding the basket five times, and tossed five free throws from fouls, while Haskins caged six baskets. The final score was 23-12.

Possibly the best game of the year was the one with Rayen High School of Youngstown. Although defeated 26 to 14, the home team showed that they had lots of fight, and the game was interesting from start to finish.

On February 25th they encountered East High of Columbus and easily defeated them 38 to 21. In the last game of the season, the "Little Reds" easily defeated their old rivals from Newark. Haskins was the individual star of the game, caging nine field goals. The score was 29-19.

Cicero-Irving Contest

The Literary Societies of the Academy have meant much to Doane along literary and social lines. They afford a splendid opportunity for literary development, and the contest each year stimulates a friendly spirit of rivalry between Cicero and Irving. Adelpian is not lacking in this contest spirit, for every girl is proudly backing "her society."

The Contest last spring was not held until after the Spring Recess, but it was not unlike other contests of former years. The usual spirit and enthusiasm had been growing throughout the weeks, and a great deal of interest had been shown by each society. Both groups were unusually large, and before the contest they were busy in preparation for the "big event", practicing yells, and songs, and helping the contestants.

On the night of the Contest the enthusiasm had reached its height. The members of Cicero and Irving took their places in Recital Hall, and for about half an hour each did its best to outdo the other in yelling. The girls, too, marched in, took their places behind "their society," and gave their stunt.

From the time that Dr. Hundley stepped to the platform until the winning society was announced, there was a tense and anxious feeling among the students. In the debate, "Resolved: that the Philippines should have their independence by 1925", the affirmative was taken by David Witte, Cicero, and the negative, by Homer Shide, Irving. Mr. Shide won for Irving. The oration was won by Ernest Smith of Cicero, while in the last two numbers, essay and declamation, Almon Wright and Donald Boughton, both of Irving, won. Irving had won seven out of the ten points.

The Adelphian Literary Society, which was founded in 1910, aims to promote literary culture and social intercourse among the Academy girls, as well as to give instruction in the simple rules of parliamentary law. Regular meetings consisting of the reading of the "Adelphian", debates, essays, and readings, are held in their hall each Friday evening. The Adelphian Society contributes three social functions to the school calendar; a reception at the beginning of the year for the men, a party, and a play in the spring. Last year the girls presented a comedy, "The Chaperon", and gave the proceeds to the men's Athletic Association.

Unfortunately the Adelphians do not have a satisfactory meeting place, but we are assured that in the plans for the "Greater Doane" the society is to be provided with a beautiful and well furnished hall.

STUNTS

Doane parties have always been full of "pep," and in this last year Sem rules alone have bounded our social enthusiasm.

The Color Tying parties given by Irving and Cicero were suitable fore-runners for the contest. The Doane Bacon Bat after Field Day was, perhaps, the most "peppy" stunt of the year. The Junior-Senior Reception, held in the Girls' Gymnasium, was better than any endeavor made by the Juniors along this line for several years. Their original prophetic playlet was particularly clever. The play the Adelphian girls gave in the latter part of May was unusually successful.

DO YOU SUPPOSE

Wallace thought he could add the proverbial nine lives to his own sufficient one by eating that cat liver?

"Bill" or "Bob" or Russell will get the next directorship of the Conservatory?

"Shorty" Keeler will remember to come back to school next year or will he forget all about us again?

Tallmadge meant galoshes, in Virgil class, when he called Mercury's wings his flapping machinery?

All Doane students think chapel is a twenty-minute study period for 1:30's.

SPARKS FROM THE CHEMISTRY LAB.

Mr. Moore—"Now, if anything should go wrong with this experiment we should be blown sky high—come a little closer so you may be better able to follow me."

Mr. Moore again—"Next Lab. period we will prepare laughing gas, though not enough to produce those effects."

Don Shifflette—"Oh, Mr. Moore, not even enough to make us smile?"

Still Instructor Moore—"Mr. Hobbins, turn up your flame, that will never boil."

Cautious Paul—"Can't, I'm afraid I'll burn my asbestos up."

OTHERWISE

Dr. Hundley (in History class)—"Brown, will you tell us on what grounds Joan of Arc was executed?"

Brown—"Why,—yes, sir, French ground."

Bowen to Boughton—"You're the biggest fool I ever saw."

Eri J.—"Boys, boys, you forget your instructor is present."

Miss Helbing to "Boob" Imhoff—"Define kiss, Mr. Imhoff."

Mr. Imhoff—"An abstract noun seldom declined."

Almon—"It's dark."

Irene—"Yes."

Almon—"And gloomy."

Irene—"Well?"

Almon—"Isn't it?"

Irene—"You say it is?"

Almon—"Yes, I do."

Irene—"Well—of course—it's up to you."

Oh, how regardless of their doom
The little urchins play;
No sense have they of ill to come,
No care beyond today.

CRIME WAVE SWEEPS UNDER DOME OF HEAVEN

Famed Sleuth on Trail of Criminals

No Clew; Shipley Hopeful

Granville has become quite the place for thieves to make their rendez-vous, and the old fashioned stunt of entering stores is still in vogue. Marshal Shipley, who will be set down in the annals of history as the only man brave enough to arrest Governor Cox for speeding, has been on the lookout for the vagrants, yet he has not found trace of them nor any clew as to their hiding place. Some of the more thoughtful citizens of our nestling village have expressed the belief that the work is being done by college students, who, being struck with the gravity of the financial situation, have made a last resort to petty pilfering—although it has become far from petty in many instances.

Last night (or one night) the book exchange was entered and several psychology books were stolen. The thieves rifled the cash register and obtained the full day's receipts, $900. "The loss was not covered by insurance," stated the treasurer, "and we will not take any out. We are going to trace the criminals and give them the full extent of the law. In the meantime we are going to put two-inch iron bars on all the windows and guard the door by a night lock."

The dastardly men also entered the Zoology Laboratory and stole the very valuable human skeleton which Professor Kornhauser prizes so highly. Prof. Kornhauser states that the skeleton was not covered by insurance; however, he intends to take out some. The insurance agent who covered this story sold him on the spot.

Dr. Stickney also was tapped, suffering the loss of his remaining turkey. It will be remembered by all who were here the first semester that Dr. Stickney had four turkeys to start with. After Thanksgiving he had only one left. He says he knows now that the person who took the three turkeys last Thanksgiving is the same one who has been committing all the vagrancies in and about town and around the campus.

The home of "Joe" Shipley was canvassed completely on the same night that all the rest of these things happened. Joe had been sleeping in the jail waiting for any call which might come in relative to hold-ups or attempted hold-ups. The burglars, who surely work fast, got several very valuable items from the Marshal's house. Among them were a .32 revolver, a deck of cards, some poker chips, a motorcycle tire, an apple pie, etc. When seen by a reporter of THE DIMESONION the constable said that he had been completely baffled, but he stated that he never gave up and would call for volunteers from the students to act as deputy sheriffs under his able leadership and in this way he expects to hunt the crooks down.

It is hoped by the residents of Granville that "Joe" is successful in jailing the bandit or bandits (it can not be found out whether there's one or two of them).

Editor's Note: This article was written by a Freshman. Time did not permit our copy reader to correct all the mistakes, so please excuse them if there are any left. Remember all of us cannot write perfect English.

FLAMINGO NO LONGER

"The Flamingo," Denison's humorous and literary publication, is no more. Its place has been supplemented by "Perspiring Puppies," a magazine similar in appearance yet of the type which appeals to students in a collective way. The old magazine was too much of the "parlor-sofa" type, as one of the Faculty has chosen to call it, and, in order to meet this difficulty which has been evident on many occasions, it was voted to change the name.

"Perspiring Puppies" has not yet made its initial appearance, but the editor is sure that it will meet the long felt needs of Denison students. The old publication did not enjoy the success which its instigators had hoped for, but it is a safe wager that this new and improved periodical will erase the black mark made by its predecessor.

PHILOSOPHY INTEREST RENEWED

PROFESSOR STIMULATES RETINA

New Discovery by Prominent Psychologist

Psychological discoveries are not frequent, especially in a school the size of Denison, yet she lays claim to such honor as might distinguish many universities much larger. Professor Lewis, of the Department of Philosophy, is the esteemed gentleman who has brought this upon us with his discovery of the "Mental Analysis and Distribution of the Hippocampal Convolution in Terms of the Stimuli Created by Habitual Association, with Respect to the Attitude Which Determines Its Contiguity." The professor has been figuring on this problem for some time and he is at last ready to give his discoveries to the world and Denison.

He has not only theorized upon this point but has the confirmation of these theories ready at hand. In a recent interview with a member of THE DIMESONION, Professor Lewis stated, that for the benefit of Denison students, he would divulge the secret of his discovery and its appliance. By careful study, he asserted, he has been able to identify the members of the various fraternities by viewing them from any angle. Without looking at his pin, he can tell a Sigma Chi by simply perceiving his face. If it is full and grinning, the mystery is solved. If he shows much cut glass, he is a Beta. If he has his hair parted in the middle and is dressed in the latest fashion, he is a Phi Gam. If he is carrying a fishing pole and is going after suckers, he's a Kappa Sig. If he has the "hardboiled" look, he's a Phi Delt. If he assumes a scholastic stoop, he is a Lambda Chi. If he is in a fog and is smoking cigarettes, he's a Sig Alph.

By this simple process of detecting to which fraternity a man belongs, Professor Lewis says he has proven his theory. This is only one specific instance which has contributed to his fame as a psychologist, yet there are doubtless many others which he is not yet ready to make public.

Besides the discovery of "The Mental Analysis and Distribution of the Hippocampal Convolution in Terms of the Stimuli Created by Habitual Association with Respect to the Attitude

PETITION CIRCULATED AND REJECTED

Students Want Less Credit

A petition circulated and signed by about one hundred and fifty of the underclassmen asking the faculty to grant that classes in physical education be held five days a week for one hour's credit instead of two as the ruling now stands was handed to the president on Washington's birthday. There has been much agitation shown by the students in the physical education department because of the apparent neglect which this side of their college curriculum has received at the hands of the physical director. The petition reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, realizing that physical education is one of the most beneficial and practical pursuits in Denison University, and feeling that the bodily benefits which may be derived from this training are insufficient due to the improper arrangement of the schedule of class periods, do hereby petition the faculty of said Denison University to install and regulate periods which will net the desired physical improvement to the members petitioning. It is recommended by the undersigned that the class periods be changed from the regular two hour training for one credit hour to five hours' training for the same amount of college credit."

This petition was brought before the regular meeting of the faculty, but because the number of members present did not constitute the necessary quorum, was held over to the next regular session. At this meeting, the petition was filed. "Livy" explained at some length the problems it would involve and brought out as his chief argument against it that Denison was not primarily an athletic school, and, since that is true, it would not be wise to lay particular stress on this form of scholastic activity. The objections of the others were grounded on the fact that there would not be room enough in the gymnasium for all the students to exercise, but stated that when the new gymnasium was built it would then be possible.

The petition was rejected by a vote of five to two.

"Which Determines its Contiguity," Professor Lewis is held responsible for the book entitled, "Fog—Its Meaning, Differentiation, and Isolation."

STRENGTH

Strength! Strength!! Strength!!!

From time immemorable, Strength has been hailed as the dominating power of civilization. In the Stone Age, men used Strength to conquer humans, animals and women. It was the sheer force of the almighty muscle which carried the human race from Adam to our present posterity, and that sheer force is still the dominating power of our race.

In Anglo-Saxon times, the shield and spear conquered all Europe. They subjugated England, put Germany in fetters, and felled Italy. Aethered used his might; Richard relied on his trusty saber; Robin Hood used his fist. And so, through the ages, might has always made right. Caesar, Napoleon, and Wilhelm of Germany—all agree that force is the ruler of destinies. Strength—it carries a subtle meaning: force, power, might, consistency, right, and subjugality.

To be virile is to lead. Our own teams demonstrate that major premise. The mightier the football players, the mightier the team; and Strength triumphs in every case. The laurel wreath belongs to him who has the greatest physical power.

In the vegetable kingdom, we find the most conquering plant is the onion. It has Strength, Strength is power, and the onion is all powerful. A man with a Bermuda breath once accosted his Sunday steady with the ejaculation, "I'm strong for you." She fainted immediately into his arms and he carried her to the parsonage. Strength again, force, power and might!

Its dominancy is recurrent in every phase of life, from the lowest plants to the highest animals; it is the prevalent subject of poets, artists, and lovers. Is there a reason, then, why we here in Denison should be subservient to our sister colleges? Think it over, Denis-ONIONS!

TIME TO CHANGE

The DIMESONION wishes to innovate several improvements which the editor thinks, after much deliberation, should be made. We wish to give the understanding, before the reader pursues this editorial further, that the suggestions which follow are not in the least compulsory, yet we think they should be carried out.

First of all, we say that there should be shorter hours for classroom recitation and fewer of 'em. This thing of the profs. making you listen to their tale of woe for sixty minutes is the limit. We didn't come to college to hear them ramble about sociology, mathematics, and the like; we came here to learn something. And how can we do it if they keep us an hour in the classroom? They never think that we've got a date maybe, or are dying to get a chocolate dope. No they won't let us satisfy ourselves with what we want to do, but make us listen to their fluent and smooth tongues until we are holed to tears. And the biggest disappointment is that all you have to do is to put a little powder in your hair to make it look gray, wear a pair of horn-rimmed specs, carry a few text-books, and make your back hump. This makes the poor devils that you have in your classrooms think that you know something. Nine chances out of ten any old dub that can get a drag with the president can be a prof. After you are installed with a cap and gown the next thing on the program is to set up a howl for more money on the grounds that you are underpaid for the many years of patient study and expenditure which you have undergone. Pretty soft. Why doesn't this bird,

A. Carnegie, who gave so much jack to the colleges of the country put somebody with some brains in his pet schools? Then maybe there'd be some inducements for the coming generation. Think what a great pleasure it would be for us to say, "My boy, you have real schools to go to. When I was a boy, we never had the chance you're having."

This surely ought to be changed, and another thing which has come into view of the eagle optic of the DIMESONION is the idea of going to classes at seven-thirty A. M. It is tough to look at your watch just when there's about ten dollars in the pot and you've got four aces and see that you're twenty minutes late for your seven-thirty. And when you split the ante and chase up the drag, then you meet a nice bawling out from a dude that never was a sport. They won't even let you take a sociable snooze after you've had a hard night. Why, a fellow can't even talk to the good looking Jane that sits next to him but what the Ph. D. calls on him to recite. Sometimes we wonder if they're human or if they're some new invention of "Tommy" Edison's. If they are this last mentioned article, they sure are perfected—they never get off beat. They always hit you when you're least expecting it.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN By ANOLD MAID

Foreword: With this issue, THE DIMESONION announces

the opening of a new department. Columns run in the best newspapers in the country of this nature have proven such a success that we have decided to install one of a similar sort in our own paper. It will be under the direction of the Sigma Delta chapter in general. They have very graciously consented to appoint a committee to take charge of and discuss the questions asked, so that our readers are assured of the most expert advice.

My dear Miss Barefacts:

I am in deep trouble. Last December, I married a very charming young lady. My father comes to visit us for long lengths of time. He made love to my wife and she has eloped with him. She told me when I married her that she loved me. Do you think it was so or was she lying to me?

T. N. T.

You do not state your case fully enough. Perhaps a divorce court would net you more information than I could give you.

My dear Miss Barefacts:

I am a girl of thirty-seven. (1) Should I eat sauer-kraut or will it injure my growth? My hair is auburn. (2) What colors should I wear? I am 5 ft. 2 in. tall, and weigh 172 pounds. Everyone tells me I should reduce. (3) Am I over-weight or is it just jealousy that makes them tell me this?

Eva Ning.

You should not eat sauer-kraut except in cases of extreme hunger. You had better consult a physician if you are afraid of your health. (2) A jade green smock, trimmed in purple georgette would blend surprisingly well with your type. (3) Jealousy, the green eyed monster, has prompted many comments which are distressing. Pay no attention to them. When your friends see that you do not care, they will ston their remarks and you may still be friends.

Dear Miss Barefacts:

What is Ben Turpin's address? Is he married? Fan.

You can find him by addressing "The Cross Roads, Follyhood, California." No, he is not married, are you?

Dear Miss Barefacts:

I have read your very soothing advice to many other girls in distress, and so I thought I'd ask you what you think of me. Glen has been coming to see me often. About a month ago we were sitting in the parlor and papa had gone to bed. All of a sudden, papa said real loud, "Get out of here." Glen jumped up and left without even kissing me good-bye. How is the best way to explain to him that papa was talking in his sleep?

Anxious.

You had better get your father to apologize to the young man. The psychological effect it would have upon him would more than compensate for the sudden outburst of somnambulistic expression. Thank you for your compliments.

Dear Miss Barefacts:

Will you kindly give me the best recipe for stuffed dool-olies?

Trixie.

Mix three cakes of yeast with ten gallons of water. Add a quart of raisins and enough grapes to back off the odor of the raisins. Boil three hours. Let the whole stand for four months, being sure that you strain off all alcoholic smell. The finished product is a delicacy only to be served at the most formal banquets. Note: It is a good policy to send various members of the family after the yeast, since three cakes makes a good many loaves of bread.

We'd like to send out an S. O. S. call for a second Rob Byder. Anyone having a sensitive abdomen and a good pen may make application by turning in his name to the editor of the DIMESONION.

SOCIETY

By
"Kap" Paphi

Sigma Chi entertained with an anti-Volstead party for the other fraternities in school last week-end. The amusement was furnished by several very clever boys in the local chapter, who gave songs and dances. Bridge drew a picture of a keg and tube, and his cleverness was hailed as the best of the entertainment. Amos and he rendered the once popular ballad, "Hortense," which brought down the house. During the evening, punch was served to the guests and they all left in a very happy mood.

Sigma Chi announces a series of formal dinner parties to be given every Wednesday night for the remainder of the academic year.

Phi Gamma Delta held a reception for the Kappa Phis on Thursday evening. The girls were invited on chapter meeting night in order to establish firmer relations between the two groups.

Lambda Chi Alpha held a faculty party on last Monday night. Those present were: Dr. Clark W. Chamberlain, Dean Tanner, Dr. Boughton, Dr. McCutcheon, Dr. Ebaugh, Dr. Kornhauser, Dr. Biefeld, Prof. Johnson, Mr. Johnston, etc. (They need help.)

Beta Theta Pi announces the pledging of Marion Hundley, the last of the family.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon gave an orchestral concert in Recital Hall last Sunday. The audience responded vehemently when "Peggy O'Neil" was played. The other number did not bring as much applause.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon entertained the Sigma Deltas in honor of Miss Elizabeth Nicholson and Robert Rettig, Miss Josephine Stratman and Richard Calvert, who made announcements of their engagements at that time. The Sigma Deltas will also give a similar function for the Ohio Mu chapter in the near future.

Kappa Sigma and Lambda Chi Alpha entertained with a joint theater party last Tuesday. Those present requested that their names be omitted from publication.

NEW COURSE TO BE INAUGURATED

Bootlegging Course to Fill Need of Male Members of University

Due to the insistent need felt by a great majority of the students in the University, the Faculty has voted to install a course in bootlegging which will be open to all students and no prerequisites required. The course he termed in the catalogue as Bootlegging 1 and 2. It will be a five hour course and will come at 11 p. m., which will insure an open hour for all those desiring to learn the fundamental principles of liquor traffic. Besides giving the students an insight into the fundamental principles, it will teach them how to make home-brew of the best and most economical kind, will instruct them in the secrets of making fourteen-dollar-a-quart bonded whisky, raisin jack, and all sorts of wine for home and fraternity use. The course will also include the construction and operation of a home still.

The instructor has not yet been employed but some capable man with a national reputation will be the professor in charge. The faculty proposes to wire to Washington in order to secure the best man available for the position.

house last Saturday night. The house was cleverly decorated in red, white and blue. Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening to the music of the Victrola.

The Commons Club entertained with a lawn fete on the Campus of the University. The evening was spent in playing "kiss the pillow," "post office," and "spin the pan."

MECCA GOES BIG AT AUDITORIUM WEDNESDAY

300 People on the Stage

The task of reviewing the sense-staggering spectacle "Mecca" for the Dimesonion is one which would severely tax the art of any less competent or broadly experienced (the term "broadly" is used advisedly) critic than the writer. The brilliancy of the scenery and more particularly the ability and inane histrionic artistry of the Denison members of the cast make my attempt a difficult one. Hence I hope the reader will pardon any lapse into French. The English language is so ineffective in expressing the deeper emotions!

To Brother Deeds (711) must undoubtedly be accorded the foam-flecked suspenders. His pomme-de-terre in the seventh scene is without doubt one of the most effective bits of acting seen on the American stage in recent years. The reader who was fortunate enough to witness Mr. Deeds' masterpiece will remember that this scene was laid in the slave market. It was Deeds' function to give chase to a Christian slave who was busily engaged in leaping about over some oars. On the first lap Mr. Deeds executed his coup-d'état and, not to be outdone, he repeated his realistic fall on each of the succeeding three laps. The audience was noticeably affected—even the stage was impressed.

When interviewed by your reviewer, Mr. Deeds modestly commented on his hors-de-combat as follows: "Seeing that the slave could not possibly escape my fleet pursuit, and realizing that the entire plot of the play would be ruined should I actually succeed in capturing him, I resolved upon a bit of action which I honestly consider one of the finest bits of characterization I have ever done. I executed my plan. As to whether or not my ruse was successful—let the admiring audience judge."

The bow-legged ex-editor of the Flamingo, who was panting close upon Mr. Deeds' heels, remarked with characteristic generosity upon his principal's heroism. "Chuck (Mr. Deeds) undoubtedly scored a triumph. I consider his acting the most outstanding feature of the whole performance." Mr. Olney also, with unusual modesty, refused to take the credit for attempting to carry the queen's litter off backwards. "It was Mr. Steadman, not I, who turned the trick," he said. "His part required a show of intense interest in the action on the stage. The pearl-clad dancer was in action, and Steadman, true to his histrionic instincts, was playing his part to perfection. Suddenly the call came to remove the queen. "Livy" responded and, faithful to his role, he depicted it with such realism that the audience must surely have thought that he was interested in the dancer, etc.

Your reviewer must also mention in passing that Mr. Steadman was not the only local actor who displayed remarkable concentration in this scene. Mr. Leet was far from slow in registering "interest" and had to be aroused before the play could go on.

But why continue? Every one of the Denison members of this "show with a super-cast" was an unmitigated hit. From Mr. Garber (of Y terpsichorean fame) with his striking costume consisting of one Sigma Chi brand and a pair of trunks, to Sam Becker, who peered and appeared at times from the wings and distinguished himself as the only one of the Denison aggregation who remained fully clothed, the exhibition of manly charm was a delight to witness and an instructive novelty.

Your reviewer hopes that Denison men will continue to shine in extra-curricular activities, and he wonders if Masquers have any right to continue to blackball the cream of local talent.

SCHEDULE

Vassar

Mt. Holyoke
Randolph-Macon
Shorter
Big Red (Post-season game).

Under the tutelage of Coach Babe Ruth Batwell the All-Shepardson football team finished the 1921 season with the switches of five opponents dangling from its belt. Combining a whirlwind attack with a sturdy defense the "Whizzbangs" overrode all their opponents with gay abandon. In only the last game of the season did the team fail to display its best football, the Varsity winning by a 147-0 count.

Opening the season against the more experienced Vassar team, the local favorites emerged victors with a 41-40 score. The feature of the game was the charging of the heavy Shepardson line, and the plunging of the "battling Duchess" at fullback.

A week later the Ypsilanti Normal team invaded the lair of the "Whizzbangs" only to be outclassed in a great battle which ended 7-6. The high kicking of "Steamer" Schulte was the deciding factor of the game. Captain "So" Boss put up a wonderful game on the defense.

With the score tied and thirty seconds to play, center "Bo" McMinn intercepted a Mt. Holyoke forward pass and romped sixty-five yards for a touchdown. (Figurez-vous l'effort!) The All-Shepardson outfit thus won their third game 14-7. In this game "Sunny" Weisenbarger proved her worth by talking the officials out of five penalties which might have proved costly to our mighty athletes.

Randolph-Macon was the next victim, being forced to take a 21-19 defeat. In this game Coach Mears tried a new combination, sending half back Gobel into left tackle on the defense. Efforts on the part of the opposition to hox her out of the plays were futile, the little "Flying Duchess" breaking up everything that came her way.

In the last game of the regular season Shorter Hall fell before the onslaughts of the Shepardson backs. Time after time the "Battling Duchess" tore gaping holes in the enemy line for long gains. "Peg" Burt also starred, kicking three goals, and two opponents from the field. The final count was 53-0.

So much interest was aroused that a game was arranged between the All-Shepardson team and the Big Red. This game did not come up to expectation, the "Whizzbangs" being smothered beneath the attack of their play. When time was called the "Whizzbangs" were on the circular end of a 147-0 score. High tackling and frequent holding by both sides marred the play.

Looking back over the season it will be noticed that all but the last two were close games. In the Shorter game the "Whizzbangs" showed their fastest stuff, but in the last game with the Big Red they lost complete control.

We look ardently forward to the next Shepardson season, and no doubt the additional bleachers on Deeds Field will prove very useful in accommodating the vast crowds which these games draw.

ANTIOCH GAME AS SEEN BY A SEM WOMAN

Surprising Viewpoint Taken by One of the Fairer Sex

Denison's first basketball game of the season certainly was an apocalypse—a revelation, so to speak. And it showed up the Big Red even to weight and build. But the Antioch team, if good looks meant anything, had the game cinched.

When our heroes tripped lightly on the floor dolled up in their nifty new uniforms, the spectators went wild. Somebody said they were nobly, but they looked pretty smooth to me; that is, all except that Charles animal on Bob Kettig's limb.

The Dawson cousins made quite a commotion, but our own

ALL-DENISON FOOTBALL TEAM PICKED

Hard Time Choosing Best Men to Play on Mythical All-Denison

Stellar playing which was obvious in the season just passed made it extremely difficult for THE DIMESENIAN to choose what it estimated to be the best players in the Denison football world. Much consideration both of the players and their supporters was taken in, by those who have chosen this team. It remains the firm belief of the selected experts who picked the men for their respective positions that they are the best in school. However, the bids for the places were so many that it was necessary for THE DIMESENIAN to deliberate for nearly a month. At last, we have reached a decision and respectfully submit to our readers the following line-up:

Right End — (C) Clyde Keeler.
Left End—Richard Barrington.
Right Tackle — Kilburn Holt.
Left Tackle—Craig Seasholes.
Right Guard—Clarke Olney.
Left Guard—John Watt.
Center—Norton Gilbert.
Left Half—Victor Weaver.
Right Half—Charles Olney.
Quarter Back — "Hoot" Gibson.
Fullback—Charles Mears.

Keeler was chosen as captain for his ability to grab the pill from the air, and also for his keen insight into the game. It was he who was responsible for his team winning so many contests. His ability to find the opponent's weak spots is acknowledged by all.

Barrington won his place by many clever maneuvers in the region of his jaws.

Holt's place was uncontested. His fine form and great speed on his feet are his main advantages.

Seasholes earned his place because of his tackling ability. It is said that he would tackle any man whether he was bigger than he or not.

C. Olney's exceptional weight and speed were factors which were in his favor.

John Watt showed fine form in keeping his opponent from breaking through his line.

Gilbert's spiral was unexcelled by any professional. He always played a good, consistent game of football.

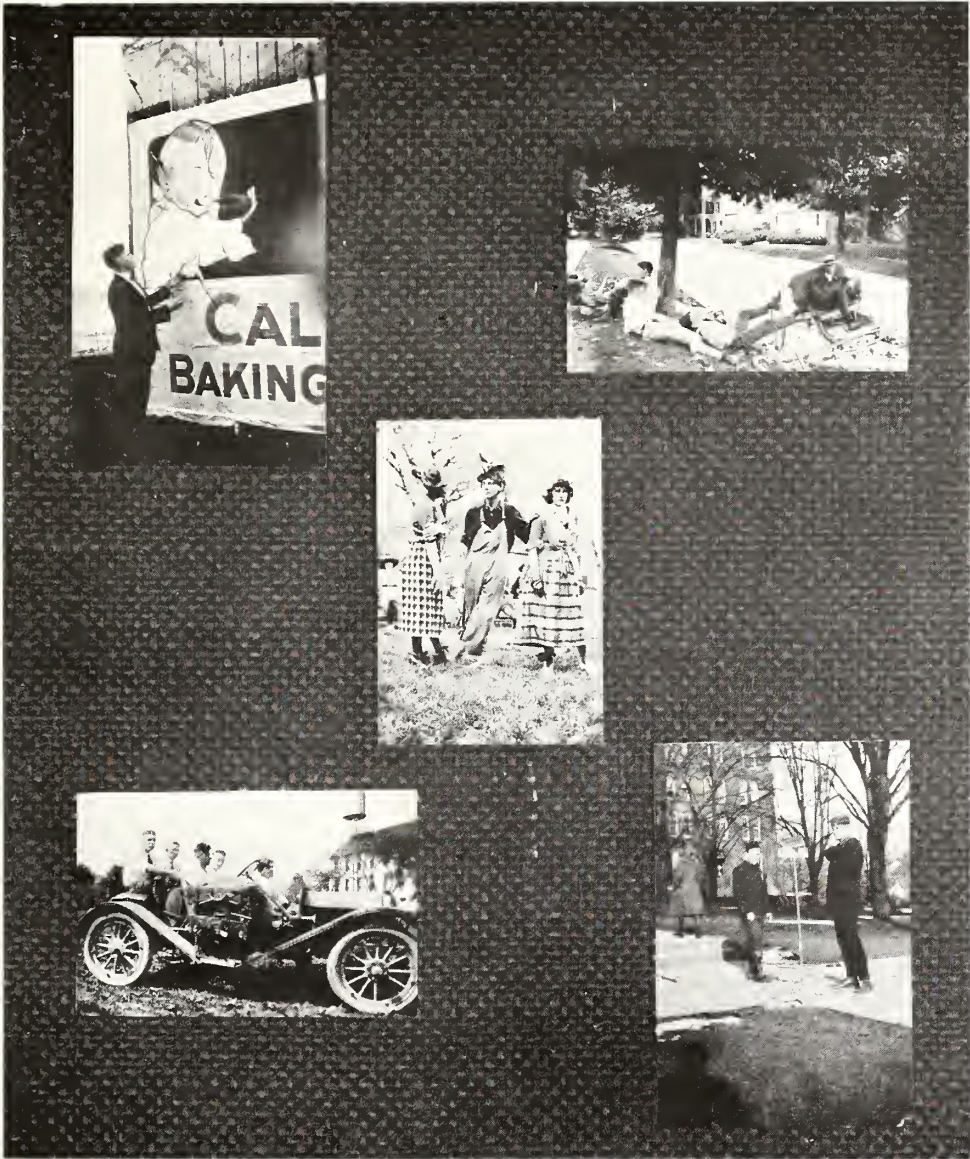

Weaver's position was contested by Foster. Both men play well and both have good passing ability. Weaver was given the honor because of his popularity.

Charles Olney made the other half. He makes a fine appearance on the field and he works in well with the rest of the family.

"Hoot" Gibson promises to be "Yip" Owen's successor. He conforms to all the requirements for an A-1 quarterback.

Mears was given the most responsible place on the team because of his speed, accuracy, determination, and deliberation. He made his name when he recovered his own fumble on the other 15-yard line.

SONG HITS OF RECENT YEARS

I Ain't Gonna Give You None
Of My Jelly Roll

In The Good Old Summer Time

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

The Old Gray Mare

In a Kingdom All Our Own

FOR WOMEN ONLY

Because such a large number of fraternity pins have made their way to the Sem, we, the Feature Committee, deem it superfluous to include a description of these emblems in our little treatise of the naked truth and of hard, cold facts, as viewed in the bright light of intellect, concerning Denison fraternities. Hence, consequently, and therefore, we will endeavor to minutely describe and clearly elucidate the Mystic Grips of these organizations, which have heretofore, been kept a deep, dark secret. Now, thanks to the sneaking, snooping, gum-shoeing Feature Committee, the clouds of secrecy have been dispelled, and the desired information uncovered to the bright light of day.

Ye men of Denison have been asleep,
While o'er your heads did a menace creep;
You were blinded by the iridescent glow
Of the glittering frat pin that did not show—
The Mystic Grips which seized your destinies,
And received you well with vile hypocrisies.

SIGMA CHI

After weeks of intensely hard work, our defective has, at last, discovered the Sigma Chi grip. We thought at first it was La Grippe, but now we know positively that it is the 7-come-11 grip, or in other words, the itching palm. They get the money. Brother Sig Cornelius Pappo brings in a goodly sum each week, by selling doughnuts. Their standing with the people of the village has increased tremendously since the Haas Construction Co. settled in their basement, next to the Chapter Room. This fraternity was dug up by some cast-off Masons, and we hand it to the present brothers for keeping up to the ideals of their founders, by staying cast-off. They have two songs, one less than the Phi Gams. They usually have a pretty good basketball team—it never wins any games, but it always looks good. Once in a while they go to chapel—they are the boys that pass the peanuts down in the bald-headed row. They must have a peanut farm somewhere, to look at some of the brothers. This is another of their various sources of income, with which they are planning to build a hundred thousand dollar addition to their present quarters. They have quite a few brothers from Newark—Cambridge sends a good delegation up each fall, too. Of course, these latter ones don't stay long, but you can hardly blame them. They have been disillusioned, because a Sig away from Granville often forgets the influence of the grand old Chapter and the grand old College. Granville's lament:

I have a Sig Chi Chapter,
Which is mine, all mine.
It chews, it bets,
It smokes cigarettes,
And sometimes forgets
That it's mine, all mine.

BETA THETA PI

Back in 1839, John Reilly Knox lost his way in a fog, and accidentally met David Linton, in a similar predicament. On that very night, these two men, in a fog, founded Beta Theta Pi. It was their idea to lend a guiding hand through the dense fog in which the Betas have found themselves, ever since. What we can't understand is that, with so many Betas, there is any room for the fog. We have just learned that the Betas no longer designate their chapters by letters of the Greek alphabet, but have installed a new card-index system. Upon application and three days' notice, they can tell the approximate location of any of their chapters. By means of Kimball's slide rule and Deeds' ouija board, they do this and other remarkable things. They can easily determine how many of them will play on the football team next year—and can usually tell who will make All-Ohio. The Grip of this chain of eating houses differs in different localities—we wonder if other schools realize how fortunate that is for them. We hope they are not so free with their Grip elsewhere as they are here. Their latest Grip is on the managers' jobs. Just where they found it is a mystery, but the fact is, they have it now. We forgot to mention that "Bud" Wiley is cheer leader. The fact that he might resign doesn't worry them much, because their president, Stone, said that Sam would succeed him, anyway. They are looking for a piano player, black or white, and will appreciate recommendations of any prospects. An orchestra minus a piano, even when it has an artist like Gabele in it, isn't so good. With an eye to the future, when "Chuck" will be gone, they have stuck a pledge button on a Marmon and a couple of Packards.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

On a dark and stormy night in 1848, in an old log barn at Canonsburg, Pa., the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity came into existence. In 1885, a Chapter was slated for Denison University, which is probably the reason for the unsettled condition in other schools and in the Fiji Islands. It is unfortunate that the Administration didn't take a hand in their affairs earlier, but now that the ship of state is in their hands, what can the Administration do? They are very secretive, with the men, to the extent that they don't speak to the other men on the Hill.

They ought to be called the Troubadours. This is the lament of their new unfortunates:

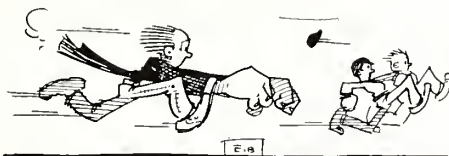

"Songs at breakfast, songs at dinner, songs at supper, songs, songs, songs." Have you heard of the Grip they have on the Sem? They stand ace-high—any one of them can tell you that. They center their efforts on the Freshmen, because the poor, innocent, ignorant creatures don't hear about them for a while. "Too bad it's raining outside—Ralph won't be able to play his violin at the serenade. But never mind, Pfanner says he will have one of the Freshmen hold an umbrella over him. We would suggest a dog-tent. Things look bad for Denison—Ted' Brien isn't coming back to school." We hope Guckert doesn't go on any wild parties this year. "Jingles" fooled the rest of the school for a while—we would suggest a thorough investigation of the rest of their affairs. The high cost of purple ink thwarted their plans for a perfect Denisonian this year, but they succeeded in coloring the sheet pretty well in spite of such a setback.

KAPPA SIGMA

Perhaps you did not know that this is the gang that sings the "Jolly Little Crescent and the Star." This Fraternity was started on its happy way in 1869, and it has been running along in about the same way ever since. A very active bunch—as a matter of fact, they have to be to keep warm—since they live so far out of town that the Ohio Cities Gas Company refuses to pipe to their House. Once a week they send Gleiss into town to stock up on supplies and Beech-Nut. When John Ehrle was in school, they ran a glee club all their own, and serenaded so often that the Semites couldn't tell whether they were putting on a real serenade or were just on their way home.

We had some trouble finding the Grip of this whisker cluh (Watch us grow), since they didn't seem to have much of a hold upon some of their Freshmen. They are a fairly nice bunch, though. It's no wonder they're so strange and childish, living, as they do, way out west, with only the Lambda Chis and their skunk cabbage to associate with. One can't be better than the environment in which he lives. One advantage of living in the suburbs is the home-grown food one gets out there. They must need a cook, though, because someone says he saw "Don" Fitch with the Sigma Chi cook in his Ford. We feel it is our duty to warn the Sigs of this underhanded rushing.

They showed brains in loosening the Grip they had on some of the school's activities, until Levering's Grip on his club was about all that was left. They're coming back now, though, having succeeded in gaining a firm grip on the destinies of the Masquers.

PHI DELTA THETA

If you will, for a moment, cast your eyes heavenward, you will see up next to the Observatory a mansion. It would have to be a mansion to house all those dogs and wolves and their keepers. Just the other day, we learned why they have wolves around the place—shh—Stew Cammett told me confidently that they thought there was a gold mine under their House. "Prexy" must think so, because of the young fortune they want for it. Stuart also said that was the reason for pledging so many men—they hope to open a mine some day soon. Dean Cammett also mentioned, rather proudly, that their grades were far above par, due largely to the efforts of Phi Beta Kappa Croneis. In the same interview he mentioned the fact that several of the mountaineers could wear the little key if they so desired, but that it involved too much trouble.

Did you ever hear, around six o'clock in the evening, the clang of steel, the crash of dishes, and the grinding of teeth? No, it's not "Doc" Ebaugh's Overland—it's the Pa Delta Flush men eating. Their Grips on the instruments are remarkable; they'd make a good moving picture to be shown at Etiquette Meeting for the benefit of the Freshmen, and for some of the Seniors, in matters of table behavior. One might imagine, from the sound, that they were opening their mine, using shovels instead of spoons. Who can tell? The next time you hear a noise like the one just mentioned, don't be alarmed—it's not "Doc" Kornhauser rolling his bones, but the Phi Deltas at mess.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

The national, nation-wide Fraternity distinguished by its motto, "We Must Increase." It was learned recently that the Gamma Iota Zeta stood last in the pledging. Having averaged but one pledge a week, their average is far below par. They must use the lead pipe pledging system, common out in that end of town, because we can't see how anyone, in his right mind, would sign their dotted line.

The Lambda Chi Bar X Ranch is the one adjoining that of Kappa Sigma's—the two crowds have frequent quarrels over their stray cattle. Above can be seen one of the G I Z boys gripping a Kappa Sig cow. Their Grip must be the best in school, because it pays.

We don't see these fellows often. They're about as prevalent in good society as the skunk cabbage, their national flower. This is probably the reason why they don't pass out corsages at their hash-parties.

A very enthusiastic bunch—they hold quite a few offices. Pritchard sings in the choir, and Bennett assists in the Chemistry Lab. Don't be impatient with them. The founders of this Fraternity are about due to graduate—it's that young—yet they have gathered scores of chapters into their fold. We hesitate to name a more definite figure—it would probably be dreadfully inaccurate by the time this book is printed.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

The Sig Alphas must have a large House because we see men going in there every day, and we never see them again. We learned the Grip of their Chapter last Saturday night when we saw Pomerson's gang get off the last car from Newark. This last run is made especially for the Sig Alphas. You've noticed, no doubt, Rettig's grip on the basketball; well, his grip on Granville's lamp posts is just as good. The Sig Alphas and Phi Gams don't get along with each other very well. It is rumored that the Sig Alphas were rushing a certain man; that the Phi Gams sent them word to "lay off," they were going to rush him. (The answer is deleted.)

They seem to be a nice crew even if they do think everyone likes them—they're all "nice fellers," although most of them were raised down in the Beech-Nut region. They've inherited quite a Grip on that sack, too. One of their biggest assets is Laws, the leader of their fine twenty-piece orchestra. "Fat" plays the cornet, and he sounds as if he were playing all twenty pieces at once. They have a reputation for being quite "Noisy." The Sig Alphas are also very popular at the Sem, especially since "Bob" made his debut. We guess he must have taken Mrs. Brumback's last nickel.

COMMONS CLUB

This organization was founded in 1917 by some professors who had nothing else to do. It has increased and multiplied like a Salt Lake City family, and is now beginning to take an awful Grip on the University. Their latest annexation is the taking over of the Disarmament Conference. They had better start at home, and disarm some of the boys that hang around the Seminary. (Refer to scene in Professor Coons' office, enacted before interested crowd of onlookers.)

We are told that the Freshmen have banded together, and are going to disarm the paddlers. To avoid any such complications, the Committee on Initiation made arrangements that the preps might be taken in in small groups of a hundred or so.

Topics in brief gained from a hasty visit to the "Old Brick":

Fido says he's through with football—other teams play rougher than the Varsity.

Card games are surely playing havoc with the boys. Four of them stayed up until 11:30 one night, just playing seven-up.

Barber shop is going to close. No business,—the boys only get shaved when there's a party.

T. V. says the bills are lower this year than ever before. They ought to be; they got plenty of fish at initiation time, cheap.

KAPPA PHI

In 1898, the Saturday Afternoon Sewing Circle of Alexandria met on Tuesday afternoon, February 29, to formulate ways and means for producing more stitches with less material in making their annual quilt for the contest at the Johnstown Fair. A few of them were chosen (many were called) on account of their talking and sewing ability, to put on the finishing touches. These few banded together to form a model quilting circle, and called themselves Kappa Phi, Kappa being the the initial for quilt, and Phi standing for producers. Needless to say, they won the prize of fifty plunks, with which they bought their "Little White House," and the see-saw and the swing, "Strong enough for two." In the quarter century since its founding, Kappa Phi, with the aid of her Alumnae, has been able to purchase two beautiful potted plants, which they have set up in public view for one and all to see. It is generally known that they are artificial, but that's only natural. To this multifarious and conscientious rushing aggregation of femininity, we respectfully dedicate the following:

(With apologies to Rudyard)

"What makes the Kappas look fatigued?"
Says Freshman on parade,
"They march so much, they march so much,"
The Senior Cynic said.
"Where do they get their orchestras?"
Says Freshman on parade.
"They only get one once a year,"
The Senior Cynic said.

Chorus:

Oh—we try to wear our colors
So we wear them every day.
We are the best a-rushing,
And we rush in every way.
Oh—our arms have started curling
For we love the Freshmen so,
And we hand our line out early in the morning.

CHI PSI DELTA

When old man Delta died in the fall of 1900, he left to his two daughters, Chi and Psi, a beautiful three-room house east of Cleveland Hall. Chi and Psi, lacking in attractions for the male, but having a natural desire for companionship, advertised in the Granville Times for roomers, stating that their spacious domicile contained a fireplace in every room and had a sun-parlor on the shady side of the house. Thereupon, multitudes of love-forlorn maidens crowded the threshold, but only a few, far too few, in fact, were taken, in great haste. (In other words, first come, first served.) They must have amounted to something once, but the old law of "the survival of the fittest" is taking its toll, and in a year or so they'll succumb, if they continue on their downward path. They're having to exert pretty strenuous efforts with the Freshmen, for unless they pick off a score or so of these latter unfortunates they won't have enough sisters up there to form a good social committee. Let this epitaph rest above them:

We all were Chi Psis, Chi Psis were we,
We never used our ability,
Oh Bushwa!
We were so gosh darned blase, you see,
For we were the Chi Psi girls.

Whenever we Chi Psis went to a class,
We bluffed like the dickens, sometimes we passed.
Oh Bushwa!
We vamped the teachers—each little lass,
For we were the Chi Psi girls.

SIGMA DELTA PHI

In 1905, the Great Lakes Amalgamated Association of Matrimonial Bureaux, with offices at Tallahassee, Alabama, decided to widen the extent of their business in the North, and put a branch office on a hill in Granville. They called this Sigma Delta Phi, Sigma Delta signifying in English "some do," and Phi the opposite. They are either positive or negative, but mostly negative. Similar environment used to make them familiar with the Phi Delt boys, but of late these men seem to have tired of climbing up and down "Old Licking's Hills," and have put in time at "the little white house" at the foot of the Hill. They have always been a self-governing body, and have gone so far as to try to self-govern the rest of us girls. Denison will be in its "Greater" stage when anyone but a Sigma becomes president of the student government. They never worry about rushing—it wouldn't do them any good. To get back to the main subject, they have an infinite capacity for getting the men. They have all the honors when it comes to securing fraternity pins. If only the Lambda Chis and the Phi Gams would come across, their suit would be complete. To these unfortunates, we ascribe the following, modeled after a literary gem from the Flamingo:

It's nice to be a Sigma,
And with the Sigmas run;
We run the student government,
And thus have all the fun.

It's nice to be a Sigma,
And wear a Phi Bet key;
The "profs" all think a Sigma pin
Means high mentality.

But do not be discouraged,
Our brains are not so fine;
We'd find it hard to nab the men
Without our sad, sad line.

CHRISTMAS VACATION

FOR THE WORK OF THE MINISTRY

The demand for pastors who are "thoroughly furnished" for the work of the ministry was never greater than today, the opportunity for service never more inviting.

The Rochester Theological Seminary seeks to prepare men for the practical work of the ministry by a comprehensive training in both scholarship and methods of service.

The Seminary has a Faculty of ten members, and a Library of 50,000 volumes, including the famous Neander collection. It offers a wide choice of electives, and grants the degrees of B. D. and M. Th.

All courses in the University of Rochester are open to Seminary students.

The city of Rochester furnishes a remarkable laboratory for observation and for participation in church and charitable work.

A Gateway to Progress

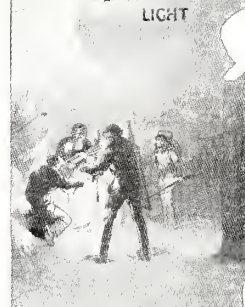

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

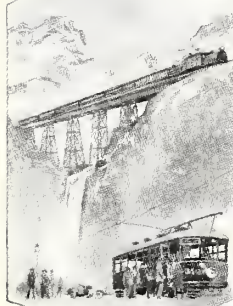

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battleships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the lamps that glow in homes and streets, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.

In Appreciation

Fourteen months elapse between the time when the Sophomore Class meets to select those two men who will bear the brunt of the responsibility of preparing an Adytum, and the day when the sign appears, "Adytums will be placed on sale this afternoon." Throughout that long period stretches the monotony of Class and Staff meetings, advertising and subscription campaigns, of hours spent at pasting pictures and at drumming away on a faithful typewriter. And now, as the book goes to press, we want to express our gratitude to those, who by their advice and efforts have contributed something to its make-up. Whatever degree of success this volume has deserved, is due directly to their efforts.

We feel safe in asserting that no Adytum editor and manager ever received more faithful service from their staff, than that ours has given us. Without an exception, each Junior on the committees has done willingly the task assigned him. The assistant managers and editors have done splendid work—lack of space prohibits any further commendation of individuals.

Every design and drawing in this book has come from the pen of some Denison student. The Class has had to draw largely on outside talent for its artists, and we appreciate the efforts of those in other classes of the University, who have contributed to the attractiveness of this volume. Clyde Keeler, '22, as Chairman of the Committee, has given generously of his time in planning and working out the art material. Edgar Bridge, '25, has done all the drawing for the Calendar and Feature sections.

Professor C. H. Dickerman has acted as our Faculty Adviser. Carey Croneis and Richard M. Tilton, of the Senior Class, who prepared last year's Adytum, have made many helpful suggestions. Professor T. S. Johnson has allowed us to use the rooms of the Civil Engineering Department in taking pictures. Theodore Burdick, '24, has made several contributions to the Feature section. Mrs. Clark W. Chamberlain has very graciously selected the art titles used in the scenic section.

Mr. Mueller, of the M. H. Mueller Studio, Newark, has done practically all our photographic work. At times, when we have needed pictures finished, he has laid aside other work, and put his entire force at the Studio at our disposal. We are indebted to Dr. Paul Biefeld for some special photography.

Mr. F. D. Fredell, of the Buckbee-Mears Engraving Co., of St. Paul, and Stanley H. Clements, '19, of the Great West Printing Co., of Minneapolis, have guided a "green" editor through many a trying circumstance. Theirs is the credit for the mechanical quality of this Adytum.

When one comes to the end of a good day's work, there comes to him a reward, in the satisfaction of having given the task his best efforts. So it is with us; we remember the tedious hours spent at this work, with something of a spirit of gratification, for it represents the best our Class can offer. We hope that the result of our labors will prove to be a strong link in the chain that binds Denison men and women to "The College on the Hill."

We have made it our aim to include those things which will be most pleasantly recalled in the days when college memories are golden memories. We shall have our reward, if

"When from the fold we far shall stray,
With souls no longer young,
We'll ne'er forget our college days,
These happy scenes among."

THE EDITOR.
THE MANAGER.

“The man who has done his best has done everything.”
